

Neutrals Not Wanted In Korean Political Conference By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States prepared to lead off the U. N. Korean debate today with a strong plea to bar so-called neutral countries—India, particularly—from the forthcoming Korean political conference.

Russia, however, was reported ready to plump for a widely backed plan to include some countries who sent no troops to the conflict. Some diplomats felt the U. N. Assembly majority might agree with the Russians.

The Soviets and India both have been proposed for membership in the conference, their sponsors contending the parity should be a roundtable affair rather than a two-sided negotiation. If the U. S. opposed view is adopted, still other noncombatants might be invited.

The reported Soviet move was seen as an attempt to capitalize on the differences between the United States and Britain over India, and at the same time a try for U. N. defeat to the United States.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., listed as first speaker in the 60-nation Political Committee, has announced the United States will agree to Russia's inclusion in the Korean conference if the North Koreans and Red China desire it. He insisted, however, that Russia should sit as a representative of the enemy and not on the U. N. side.

Lodge has declared emphatically that he will not support a British-backed proposal to invite India to the conference. But despite Lodge's objection, the inclusion of India has strong support among the British commonwealth nations.

Korean Truce Will Last, Says Eisenhower Aide

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower's top aide says the chief executive believes the Korean truce is going to last.

And the aide, Sherman Adams, lists the signing of the truce as the administration's "greatest deed" during its first seven months in office.

Adams, former governor New Hampshire, arrived at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here Monday and will remain for a few days.

The President will leave Denver by plane tonight for New York, where Wednesday he will take part in dedication of a 32 million dollar federal housing project, register for the New York municipal elections to be held this fall and hold a round of conferences. He will fly back to Denver Wednesday night.

Adams talked about the Korean truce in a radio interview over a nationwide network Monday night. He was asked whether he believes the administration can make the Korean armistice last. He replied that he thinks it will last, and that Eisenhower also believes "the truce is going to stick."

Adams also declared he believes Eisenhower can avoid calling a special session of Congress to consider increasing the 275 billion dollar national debt ceiling, "but it is going to be nip and tuck."

British Spy Set Free In Hungary

NICKELSDORF, Austria (AP)—Edgar Sanders, British businessman jailed by Communist Hungary for nearly four years as a spy, crossed into Austria today a free man at 12:59 p. m. 5:59 a. m. CST.

The Red Hungarian government pardoned the 47-year-old Briton Monday night and expelled him from the country where he and American Robert Vogeler were sentenced in February, 1950, on charges of espionage and sabotage. Vogeler was released in April, 1951.

Sanders was sentenced to 13 years in prison and Vogeler to 15 years. Vogeler was released after negotiations between the American and Hungarian governments.

During their trial both Vogeler and Sanders "confessed" their guilt, and both the British and American governments promptly branded the confession the result of Communist pressure interrogations.

As a result of Sanders' conviction, Britain broke off trade relations with Hungary, and the United States also took retaliatory measures.

Mossadegh And Rhee Sit Close To Powder Keg

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two strong-willed old men, Syngman Rhee and F. Mohammed Mossadegh, walk dangerously close to the world's powder keg with a lighted match in their hands.

Both move toward the climax of their lives in their late 70s. Although a continent separates them, what they have in common is a will of iron.

Both Too Old
And all the rest the world—the non-Communist world, at least—can do is watch them, hold its breath, and just hope they'll be shrewd and nimble enough not to stumble or fumble.

Rhee, the peppery president of South Korea, is 78. Mossadegh, Iran's premier, is believed close to 78, too. His age is not definitely known.

If Rhee, exasperated by the forthcoming peace conference, wrecks the truce by attacking the Chinese, what then? The Chinese seem capable of slaughtering Rhee and his people.

Door Open To Reds?
Mossadegh became Iran's No. 1 man Sunday when the Shah fled into exile. What now? Has Mossadegh so weakened the structure of government that, unwittingly, he has opened the door for the Iranian Communists to bounce him and take power? That would make Iran another Russian satellite.

Rhee has made it abundantly clear what he wants in Korea: unification, under him. Mossadegh's ultimate ambition for Iran is far from clear, unless it is making a door open to the Reds.

Space At Willow Run May Be Used For GM Transmission Factory

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp., looking for a means of replacing its burned-out Livonia transmission factory, is eyeing the big Willow Run plant.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice said the auto company was negotiating with Kaiser Motors Corp. for use of part of the Willow Run factory near Ypsilanti.

General Motors' transmission plant was all but destroyed in a 50-million dollar fire last Wednesday.

The death toll attributable to the blaze rose to six Monday when two construction workers were electrocuted clearing rubble from the ruins. The victims, Walter E. Smith, 40, and George Trombley, 53, both of Detroit, were killed when a crane they were operating touched a high tension wire.

Missing Pontiac Broker Hunted In Frankfort Region

FRANKFORT (AP)—This northwestern Michigan resort area was being combed today for a missing Pontiac broker who disappeared after reportedly mailing his wife a suicide note.

The man was identified as Eugene Arthur Parmenter by Benzie County sheriff's officers. Parmenter's wife, Clara May, said her husband flew here from Pontiac Saturday in his private plane. He was heading for the couple's Crystal Lake cottage. Parmenter has not been seen since.

His wife said she received a letter from him Monday in which Parmenter said he intended to "hire a boat" and take his own life. An air and ground search for the missing broker failed to turn up any clues as to his whereabouts.

U.S. Printing Office Employee Won't Deny Communism Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward M. Rothschild refused today to say whether he is a member of the Communist party or whether he ever stole secret documents from the government printing office.

Rothschild, a bookbinding machine operator at the government printing plant, to the Senate investigations subcommittee he declined to answer on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) told the slightly built, bushy haired witness that the charges made against him in secret testimony before the subcommittee are perhaps "the most serious charges ever made against any government official."

"We have testimony to the effect that you stole secret documents from the government printing office—among other things that you stole a secret code," the Wisconsin lawmaker said.

Both Rothschild and his wife, Esther, were named as Communists by witnesses who testified before the Senate group Monday.

With a shake of his head, Rothschild declined McCarthy's invitation to comment on the charges. Then he parried all questions about his associations, alleged Communist connections and other activities with the repeated statement:

"Under the Fifth Amendment I refuse to answer that question."

McCarthy has declared there is every indication the printing office has had an "extremely slipshod" security set up in the past.

Democrats To Meet In Chicago Sept. 15

Freedom Gate Opens For 450 Allied Prisoners

By The Associated Press
Five more Michigan soldiers were among a record 450 prisoners of war handed over by the Communists Monday night.

The latest Michigan sons to walk through Freedom Gate were: Pfc. John W. Bowles, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Bowles of Lennon.

Pfc. Lawrence R. Schadler, 26, son of Mrs. Bertha Shaffer of Benton Harbor.

Airman 2-C Edward R. Collins, son of Mrs. Dorothy Warren of Jackson.

Cpl. William D. Martin, 26, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer De Hoff of Kalamazoo.

Pfc. Richard Drennan, 21, of Lincoln Park.

Both Bowles and Schadler were members of the same outfit in the 2nd Division. They were taken prisoner in fighting during May, 1951.

William Bowles, the GI's 53-year-old father, said that after he and the soldier's mother had been informed of their sons' release, "Ethel went to pieces like women do."

"But believe me," he added, "it hit me too. I've walked many a night out on this farm of ours wondering what was happening to John."

Schadler's mother said, "I'm just so happy I can hardly talk. The young soldier is her only son although she has seven married daughters."

Kingsford Plant Pickets Leave

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—Pickets who had marched in front of the Kingsford Chemical Co. railroad yard entrance for most of a seven-week strike were withdrawn late Monday.

They withdrew when the company's train made a round trip from the yards to pick up supplies.

Last week Dickinson County Prosecutor John V. Zanardi served an order restraining the CIO Union Auto Workers local from obstructing railway traffic after a judge ruled that such an order was legal.

International representative Ivan Brown withdrew the pickets, explaining:

"We are permitted to picket peacefully, but there's no use picketing if you can't stop the train."

Brown said he was expecting word in the near future from state and federal mediators who met last week with union and company representatives. He said mediators had planned to get the parties together again this week.

The union is seeking a contract granting a union shop, a check-off dues system and six paid holidays annually.

A company spokesman has said the firm, which manufactures a charcoal fuel substance and a liquid fuel by-product, is producing at 50 per cent capacity. The company normally employs 385 workers and has 215 now on the job.

Record Entry Of Cattle At U.P. Fair Here

More dairy cattle than ever before are entered in this year's Upper Peninsula State Fair, and the total is about 475 animals, Charles J. (Jack) Little, superintendent of dairy breeds, said this morning.

A few more animals are still to come and the final total will be even higher, Little said.

About 200 are 4-H animals, Little said. In open class there are about 275. Both dairy barns are full and the overflow is so great about 60 Delta 4-H animals are housed in the horse barn.

One end of one barn is filled for the first time in the three years he has been at the fair, Little said.

Quality of animals is about on a par with the last two years, when quality has been very good, Little declared.

There is an increase in the number of cows this year over last year from Gogebic, Alger, Menominee, Dickinson and Iron Counties, Little said.

Judging Begins Tomorrow

Two sawdust rings have been prepared for the judging tomorrow. Holsteins and Brown Swiss will be judged in the north ring and Jerseys and Guernseys in the south ring, Little said. Judges will be Dr. N. P. Ralston, of the Michigan State College dairy department, E. Lansing, who will judge Holstein and Brown Swiss; and H. E. Dennison, E. Lansing dairy expert and a former field man for the American Jersey Cattle Association, who will judge Jerseys and Guernseys.

About 180 4-H members have cattle entered in the fair, Jim Myers, Iron County agricultural agent and assistant superintendent of 4-H dairy activities, said. 4-H cattle are entered from every Upper Peninsula county but Luce, Ontonagon, and Mackinac, he said.

All 4-H cattle have arrived except a few from Delta County, he said.

There are more 4-H Holsteins than other types of cattle, Myers said. "Over the past years it has changed from Guernsey to Holstein," he commented.

"I've noticed fewer Jerseys than ever this year in 4-H," he also commented.

An observation by Karl Larson, Luce and Mackinac county agent who is superintendent of 4-H cattle activity, was that 4-H cattle seem to be older this year than other years. Myers and Ben Westrate, who is the 4-H leader in the Upper Peninsula, agreed, noting that in '50 and '51 many more calves were entered than this year. These calves have now grown up and are being entered as grown animals, they explained.

4-H cattle are here in quantity from almost every county in the Upper Peninsula. There are 14 from Houghton County and 10 from Gogebic at one end of the peninsula, and a dozen from Chippewa at the other end.

Tonight at the Dairyman's Dinner certificates of achievement in dairy husbandry will be presented to several Upper Peninsula farmers who have exhibited 10 or more years at the fair, Little said.

Dairyman receiving certificates include Carl P. Hansen, Menominee County Jersey breeder who has exhibited at every U. P. State Fair; and Andrew Benson, Menominee County Jersey breeder who has exhibited at every fair but two.

The two men's sons will also receive certificates. Carl Hanson's son Ray Hanson has shown Jersey cattle more than 15 years at the fair; and Andrew Benson's son Kenneth Benson has shown Jersey cattle more than 15 years, Little said. Both young men started as 4-H members.

Sam Grondine and son with a Menominee County Holstein herd will receive certificates, for more than 17 years of exhibits, as will Johnson Brothers, Holstein breeders of Hermansville, for over 15 years of exhibits.

A. Wender and son of Edelweiss Farm, Iron Mountain, have exhibited Holstein herds for over 15 years. Neil Johnson and his son Elmer of Delta County, Guernsey dairymen, have exhibited over 20 years.

Notables Coming:

Williams, Ferguson And Knox To Visit U.P. Fair

The U. P. State Fair opening today will have visiting notables appearing on its program, Thursday, 4-H and Governor's Day, including Gov. G. Mennen Williams, U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson, and Congressman Victor Knox.

Gov. Williams is scheduled to fly here for Governor's Day, one of the traditions of the U. P. State Fair now in its Silver Jubilee year.

As in past years the governor will speak from the grandstand in the afternoon and visit all of the principal fair features, with particular attention to the agricultural and 4-H Club exhibits.

Ferguson To Speak

In the Silver Jubilee issue of the fair book, Gov. Williams noted that "festivals such as the Upper Peninsula State Fair are indeed performing a most useful service in promoting and advancing the interest of agriculture, horticulture, household arts, mechanical arts and sciences."

Michigan's senior Senator Homer Ferguson will come to Escanaba and the U. P. State Fair Thursday on a state-wide tour to tell the people about events in

The Pett report shows that: 68.8 per cent of all married American women object to being 74 per cent of all married women wear shoes that are too tight.

22.3 per cent of married women throw dishes at their husbands and 22.2 per cent miss.

During courtship, 88.4 per cent of women of all ages talk only of marriage, a home and children.

After the wedding, 73.5 per cent complain that if they hadn't been rushed into marriage they might have had a promising career.

53.5 per cent of married women would have more children if only they had a full time maid.

34 per cent of women of all ages say "yes" more often than men because men aren't asked as often.

78 per cent of the women who wear low cut dresses pretend to be annoyed when men stare.

87.8 per cent of women of all ages are prettier than men.

53.9 per cent of married women think that 98.9 per cent of the other married women are better off.

Snore? Oh No!
86.7 per cent of married women will merely hold out their hands in the general direction of their husband. Then they complain bitterly when he doesn't immediately understand they want a cigarette.

74.3 per cent of the women in America who play poker play with all the red cards wild.

68 per cent of women of all ages snore in bed, but only .09 per cent admit it.

96.8 per cent of the women who turn away from an off-color joke at a party insist on hearing it later from their husbands.

Before marriage, 74 per cent of women talk about marriage being a "two-way street." After marriage, 73 per cent make it a one-way.

99.8 per cent of women of all ages will disagree violently with what they just read.

Picketing Stops At Railroad Crossing

IRON MOUNTAIN — Picketing by UAW-CIO union strikers was resumed Monday morning at the Kingsford Chemical company's railroad crossing on South Carpenter avenue but was halted shortly after the company's Diesel engine "ran" the picket-line and came back with a string of flatcars loaded with logs.

About 30 strikers gathered at the crossing Monday and picketed for the first time since Prosecutor John V. Zanardi served a restraining order on Ivan Brown, UAW-CIO international representative, to stop the obstruction of railway traffic. Last week, Judge Glenn W. Jackson, at a hearing in Escanaba, upheld the prosecutor's ruling. ## Upper Peninsula Briefs

STEPHENSON—Army 1st Lt. Herman J. Vetort, son of Edward Vetort, Stephenson has been awarded his first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service with the 3rd Infantry Division in Korea. Lt. Vetort, who has returned to the United States on rotation, was cited for outstanding performance of duty as a member of the 65th Infantry Regiment's Tank Company.

IRON MOUNTAIN—Interest is building up in the first annual reunion for former patients and employees of Pinecrest sanatorium, Powers, to be held on Sunday, Aug. 23, in the Iron Mountain city park. Iron Mountain was selected for the reunion because of its central location in the Peninsula.

IRON RIVER—An era of mining in central Mineral Hills came to an end Tuesday night when the last ton of ore was raised to surface from the Davidson mine. Next morning, the Pickands, Mather & Company began the task of dismantling and bringing to surface all underground equipment. Many of the 85 men employed at the Davidson property are being transferred to other Iron county Pickands, Mather mines. The P-M took over the Davidson property in 1947. There were three components of the property, the Davidson 1, 2 and 3 shafts.

IRON RIVER—Sixteen men are presently employed by the Jean Wood Products Manufacturing company at its long mill structure across the Iron River from the W. Minckler bridge. Alphonse Jean, head of the firm, said his plant is presently turning out popple crating and furniture parts for Milwaukee manufacturers. The products are turned out by the boxcar load and shipped by railway freight from a siding along the plant building.

NEGAUNEE—The city council has approved the rerouting and grading of M-35 at the railroad crossing near the Rueising firm. M-35 makes a sharp turn on either side of the crossing, because of the grade. The improvement will eliminate the two right-angle curves by straightening the road for a short distance, and running it across the tracks at an angle.

MARQUETTE—Following a meeting here Friday with officials of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, State Representative Alvin E. Richards said final details of the firm's plan to provide Marquette with a modern dial telephone system had been completed and that work on the new plant would get underway within 10 days.

IRONWOOD—Ironwood's long-awaited $228,000 street improvement program finally got underway the first of the week as blacktopping equipment of Thornton Construction Co., Hancock, began laying strips on Aurora Street. It marked the official start of the first street improvement program for Ironwood in several decades.

FROZEN FEATHERS
Ice, the winter foe of airmen, also occasionally brings down birds. From time to time, reports come in telling of the capture of eagles, whose wings have become useless because of moisture freezing on the feathers.

BARK RIVER EROSION CONTROL—Roy Skog, extension forester at the Chatham experiment station, is shown examining land on the Bark River farm of Edwin Bergman which Bergman has planted with penny-apiece red pines to stop erosion. The land slopes so badly it is not recommended for agricultural purposes, Joseph L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, said. The land was mapped for Bergman by the Soil Conservation District and the recommendation to plant red pines followed. The land was plowed and the pines planted in the bottom of the furrow so the pines would not have to compete with sod for a couple of years, Heirman said. The pines were bought through the Soil Conservation District, whose representative here is Irwin TenHaken, for $10.00 a thousand. About 1,000 are planted to the acre. Bergman put in an acre last spring and plans to put in more next spring, Heirman said. The pines can be left to grow into pulpwood size or saw-log size, or if the owner wants a quicker return, can be harvested for Christmas trees, the county agent said. (Photo by Joseph L. Heirman)

Red Reflective Taping Station Open Tomorrow

Members of the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce will be on duty at the city hall parking lot from 6 to 9 tomorrow evening to place reflective tape on rear bumpers of automobiles in this area.

The project is being undertaken by the Jaycees in an effort to improve Escanaba's traffic safety record by reducing the hazard of night driving on streets and highways.

A four-foot strip of reflective tape may be purchased at the city hall parking lot tomorrow evening for a nominal charge and affixed to the rear bumper on your automobile without charge, Jack Manning, Jaycee president, reminds Escanaba motorists.

"This is a splendid opportunity for all Escanaba motorists to do something about improving Escanaba's safety record which, incidentally, can stand a lot of improving," Manning asserted.

"Reflective tape picks up the headlights of oncoming cars much quicker than ordinary tail lights and hence is a big safety factor. It is particularly helpful on cars parked alongside streets and highways. Some drivers even want the red reflective tape on the left hand door so that it will be picked up when opened in the path of an oncoming car."

William Meiers, chairman of the local Jaycees will be on hand to do a traffic safety job for all motorists desiring to procure the tape.

"Lighting up the rear bumper is an effective means of helping to prevent night automobile accidents," Meiers said. "It is the obligation of every motorist to do what he can to prevent accidents."

Obituary
NICK ALKO
The body of Norman Alko of Perkins was removed from the Alko funeral home to the family home this afternoon. Services will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday at St. Joseph's Church in Perkins with the Rev. Charles Daniel officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood cemetery, Gladstone.

Rotary Service Told By Meyer

The world-wide scope of Rotary service was described Monday noon by Rotary District Governor Harry H. Meyer, Shawano, Wis., to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting at the Delta Hotel. It was the new Rotary district governor's first official visit to the Escanaba Rotary Club.

He was introduced by Dr. N. L. Lindquist, Escanaba Rotary Club president. Earlier on Monday the district governor had met with Rotary Club officers and committee chairmen for a review of club activities.

"Your club is active and growing and one of the outstanding clubs in the district—certainly outstanding in the field of service to crippled and handicapped children," said District Gov. Meyer.

Speaking on the subject of "the priceless ingredients of Rotary," Gov. Meyer told of the service Rotary performs for its clubs, its community, and "to promote international understanding, good will and peace" in the world.

There are Rotary Clubs in 86 countries and geographical regions throughout the world united in these endeavors, he added. Rotary's keynote of fellowship and service is supported by 372,000 members "regardless of differing national ties or religious beliefs," he said.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 8,000 clubs within their own communities, Rotary International has spent more than $1,250,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as "ambassadors of good will."

From Escanaba Meyer will go to Iron Mountain and the Copper Country to visit Rotary Clubs.

Iron Mountain Druaquist To Talk At National Meet

On today's program he will discuss the topic "Minimum Standards of Technical Equipment." The talk will be a part of the session on professional relations.

Mr. Buchman is a brother of Harry Buchman of Rapid River.

U. P. State Fair Sidelight Glances

Near the cattle barn the lady in the pretty nylon dress, wearing white shoes and carrying a white bag in one hand—was washing a cow with the other hand!

She was doing a thorough and methodical job despite the handicap of the bag and her fair-going attire. The cow was beginning to look almost as neat as her mistress when her husband sauntered up and, after watching for a few minutes, offered to help.

"Say," he said, "let me hold that handbag for you!"

Fair weather is the outlook for the U. P. State Fair this week, according to S. E. Decker, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist at Escanaba.

"The next three days look good, with some clouds but generally fair skies and the nights slightly warmer," he reported.

"No precipitation is indicated before the weekend. By Saturday, however it may turn a little cooler, with the prospect of scattered showers next weekend." Sounds good, doesn't it?

The little girl standing in front of the exhibit being readied at the Fair exhibition building was, for a few minutes, the center of attention Monday evening.

The exhibit was that of the Delta County Historical Society, portraying an Indian village setting, complete with glowing campfire.

Other children wanted to know if there were going to be "real Indians" there.

"Yes," said the little girl with the dark eyes, "they will be here tomorrow."

Asked how she knew, the girl replied proudly:

"They are my grandpa and grandma. Mr. and Mrs. Philomen. They are real Indians!"

Note: Mr. and Mrs. Alex Philomen of the Potawatomi community at Hannahville, near Harris, will demonstrate the ancient Indian art of basket weaving.

Jaycees Sponsor Fishing 'Rodeo'

Boys and girls who like to fish should be able to "catch" some of the fine prizes as well as fish if they come to Escanaba yacht basin on Saturday, Aug. 29, the third annual National Better Fishing Rodeo sponsored locally by the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"Purpose of National Better Fishing Rodeo Day is to encourage more boys and girls in the wholesome pastime of fishing and to stimulate wider participation of young people in this safe and healthful recreation," said Al Lord, chairman of the Jaycees committee arranging the event here.

Other members of the committee are Art Petersen and Francis Lueneberg of the Escanaba Recreation Department.

There will be two grand prizes for the largest fish caught by boys and girls, and other awards for the largest fish of the several species.

Mayor Robert E. LeMire has issued a proclamation designating Saturday as National Better Fishing Rodeo Day in Escanaba, and has called upon young people to participate in the activity to "encourage appreciation of nature, sportsmanship, and the need for conservation of natural resources."

Details concerning the rules of the fishing contest will be announced later, Chairman Lord said.

Rev. Paul Sobel Of Manistique To Leave City

IRON MOUNTAIN—Meeting in special session following services Sunday morning, the congregation of First Presbyterian church extended a unanimous invitation to the Rev. Paul Sobel, pastor of Redeemer Presbyterian, church in Manistique, to serve First Presbyterian in Iron Mountain. Rev. Sobel accepted and said he would be here about Dec. 1 to succeed the Rev. N. U. McConaughy, D. D., who resigned to accept a new charge in the East.

Under consideration for the appointment for some time, Rev. Sobel came here Sunday to conduct a special service at First Presbyterian. The congregational meeting followed.

In accepting the charge, Rev. Sobel explained that he had started a building program at the church in Manistique and would not resign there until he had completed his obligation to that congregation. He will therefore not be available until Dec. 1.

Rev. Sobel has been in charge of the Manistique pastorate since 1947, coming to Michigan from Kirchoven, Minn.

Hit-And-Run Toy

COLUMBIA, S. C. (P)—Police officer H. C. Walker, called to investigate a traffic accident, was told by a woman that her 4-year-old son had been hit.

The child, with legs and arms skinned, pointed toward a parked car. But the car's owner insisted it hadn't been moved in 24 hours.

Then the officer spotted a toy pedal car near the automobile. Sure enough, that was it. And the child pointed an accusing finger at another 4-year-old who was driving it.

Walker walked away mopping his brow.

PSC Order In Michigan Bell's Rate Petition Is Plain Nonsense

THE Michigan Public Service Commission has gone beyond the bounds of logic, if not beyond its authority, in issuing an order requiring the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to distribute a pamphlet to its customers stating reasons why the phone company should not receive a rate increase.

The company recently distributed a pamphlet setting forth reasons why the company feels that it needs an increase in its rates and explaining why the company has petitioned the Michigan Public Service Commission for a rate increase.

At a subsequent meeting of the Commission, opponents of the rate increase request argued that the telephone company's action was unfair. The argument apparently fell on sympathetic ears and as a result the Commission ordered Michigan Bell to circulate a second petition countering the effect of the first one.

This is about as ridiculous as anything

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Many times readers write me for suggestions on how to make their letters more readable. Most often they are business people disturbed by the fact that the language in letters they write and letters they receive in the course of daily work contain so many trite and hackneyed phrases. One correspondent asks: "Is it really necessary to start each letter with a sentence like 'Yours of the 16th received and contents duly noted?' Why cannot we get right into the subject of the letter? After all, the other fellow has already written to you and is presumably expecting an answer."

Amen! It's appalling, when you stop to think of it, how many man-hours per year are wasted by the nation's businessmen and their secretaries on trite, dull and unnecessary opening sentences like this one. How much simpler and more informative it is to get right to the point, as in this opening: "Gentlemen: Your order of January 16 for twenty gross of stamp packets has been filled and is going forward to you by express prepaid, as you requested."

But trite opening sentences are not the only bad points in many business letters. Elaborate phrases like "pursuant to," "in accordance with" are affected by many writers who apparently think they add "style" to their writing. The last phrase in the letter above, for example, would have been quite stuffy, if it had been written "in accordance with your request."

Never forget that many of your business contacts these days know you only by correspondence and they are likely to judge your firm by the impression they get from your letters. As an experiment, take out a handful of correspondence—either personal or business—from your file. Read it over, paying attention chiefly to the words you use. Ask yourself—and answer honestly—"Does this sound like an alert, up-to-the-minute company? Or does the language sound like something out of the Nineties? Is this the kind of letter I'd get from General Motors—or from the Old Reliable Bridge and Blenders Corporation?"

If your answer is: "Well, yes, it is a bit stuffy and old-fashioned," go through the letter again and see how it sounds if you just chop out all phrases like "contents duly noted" and "pursuant to your request." Now how does it read? Brisker and more to the point, I'll bet.

So the first two rules for successful business letters are:

1. Get to the point and stick to it.
2. Avoid trite, hackneyed and "fancy-sounding" words and phrases.

There are other important rules to follow if you want to be a good letter writer, but we'll take them up in another column.

The Doctor Says...

No Single Remedy Relieves Itching—Causes Are Many

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

A reader recently requested a column on pruritis. This medical word merely means intense itching. The inquirer gave no further information concerning the location or the cause.

The subject of itching, however, is a most interesting one. It is hard to see how, except in the most unusual circumstances, itching can serve any useful function. Few of us escape the sensation of itching, either in some particular location, or even more or less all over.

Another interesting thing about itching is why the reaction to it should be to scratch, since scratching, while it often brings a little relief, is likely to damage the skin still further.

There are a great number of possible causes for itching, and only a few of them can be discussed in this column.

Some people itch all over after bathing. Although the itch usually disappears after the clothes have been on for a while, this is a most annoying form of itch. It is hard to know what to do for it, but one lady wrote me that her husband had obtained relief by applying a half glycerine-half water solution on the skin immediately after the bath.

Winter itch is a closely related condition in which people complain of severe itching all over the body when undressing for the night or shortly after retiring. It goes away when the weather gets mild. The skin looks perfectly all right—except for scratch marks.

Insect bites almost always cause itching. Cotes or lice are among the worst. Unlike that for many other insect bites, the treatment for lice is not just to put on some soothing lotion and wait for the itch to go away; lice have to be got rid of or they will stick to the body and multiply.

The seven-year itch, better known as scabies, is another cause of itching. This is caused by a tiny parasite which burrows its way into the skin. Here, too, the parasites have to be killed before the itching will stop.

ACCOMPANIES DISEASES

Hives, or urticaria, always causes itching. This can be recognized easily by the sudden appearance of raised reddish spots accompanied by an irresistible desire to scratch.

Itching of the skin may accompany such diseases as diabetes, Bright's disease, and especially jaundice. In jaundice particularly, the itch is most unpleasant and difficult to relieve; in fact, it often persists as long as the jaundice.

Because there are so many possible causes for itching, no single lotion or ointment can be counted on to bring relief. Severe, long-lasting itching presents a problem of finding the cause and attacking it.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Unification may be hard to achieve in the armed forces, but it's a love feast compared with the problem of unifying the wives of the top brass.

It's the wives of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who are really behind the present squabble over who gets what house in Washington.

In fact, even while the new Joint Chiefs of Staff were listening to lectures on "team play" at Quantico, Va., their wives were kicking up a row over who should live in the fanciest house.

The shuffle over houses became so fast and furious that the harassed Navy finally consolidated two commands in order to create an extra vacancy. However, the ladies' tempers still haven't simmered down, and Mrs. Arthur Radford, wife of the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is reported ready to explode.

The ruckus started soon after the new joint chiefs got into town last month and their wives discovered that there were only three houses to go around among the four of them. This embarrassing predicament was caused by the fact that retiring Army chief of staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, was remaining on active duty and refused to budge from his comfortable Army house at Ft. McNair.

Mrs. Robert Carney, wife of the new chief of naval operations, hastily laid claim to the rambling, old mansion at the Naval Observatory, the traditional home of the CNO. Mrs. Matt Ridgway, wife of the incoming Army chief of staff, let it be known that they were moving into Gen. Omar Bradley's quarters at Ft. Myer. And Mrs. Nathan Twining, wife of the new Air Force chief, wasted no time taking possession of retired Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg's quarters, also at Ft. Myer.

HUSBANDS CALLED IN

This left Mrs. Radford out in the cold. But as the wife of the nation's senior military officer, she made it clear that her husband would pull his rank, if necessary, to expropriate either the Navy mansion or Gen. Bradley's house. However, Mrs. Carney and Mrs. Ridgway not only had already staked their claims, but had boasted to their society friends about it.

So to save the embarrassment of being kicked out of the new homes, they appealed to their husbands. Mrs. Carney even egged her husband into getting a ruling from the Navy's legal department that the Navy mansion was the official residence of the chief of naval operations.

The controversy finally was sent up to Secretary of Defense Wilson, himself, who hastily passed the buck to the Navy. This evoked a pained outcry from the Navy that Adm. Radford, as joint chiefs' chairman, was working directly for the secretary of defense and therefore was no longer the Navy's responsibility.

However, Wilson was too shrewd to get mixed up in the battle of the ladies. He held to his ruling that it was up to the Navy to house its two top admirals. Already armed with a legal opinion in his favor, Adm. and Mrs. Carney triumphantly took over the mansion at the Naval Observatory.

ADMIRAL DUNCAN ROARS

This forced the Navy to shift its attention to the No. 2 quarters, occupied by the vice chief of Naval operations, Adm. Don Duncan. When he got orders to clear out, however, Duncan roared like a bull, and, with possession nine-tenths of the law, he held fast.

The Navy finally discovered that Rear Adm. George Fort was retiring August 31 as commandant of the Potomac River naval command. Since a three-story, eight bedroom, colonial-style house goes with the job, the Navy decided this should be room enough for the Radfords.

However, the Navy still had the problem of where to lodge the new Potomac River commander, and finally hit upon the solution of consolidating two posts and making the naval gun factory superintendent, Rear Adm. T. B. Hill, head of the Potomac River command too. Since Hill already has a house, this should work out fine.

However, it didn't take into account the social position of the charming Mrs. Radford, wife of a full admiral, who is fuming over being stuck away in the home of a rear admiral. As wife of the chairman of the joint chiefs, she claims the right to the best house—though she has indicated she would be satisfied with Adm. Duncan's house, where the Radfords used to live before he was exiled to the Pacific for insubordination.

To avert another explosion, some high Navy officers are trying to promote Duncan to be Gen. Mark Clark's successor in Tokyo. Then the Radfords could hurry up and move into Duncan's house before a new vice chief of naval operations is appointed.

We wonder how many men spent $50 for a fishing outfit to catch 50 cents worth of fish.

Ghosts Of Missing GIs Will Tap Shoulders Of UN Diplomats

By FRED SPARKS

ON THE KOREAN TRUCE FRONT—(NEA)—To some 10,000 American families, whose sons were captured or killed by the Communists in Korea, prisoner exchange "Big Switch" will offer no holiday from heartbreak.

They will continue to hope without fact and pray without proof. "MIA"—Missing In Action—will still be carried next to the names of many GIs, fliers and Marines and cloud with uncertainty the days and nights of their loved ones.

Besides the naked evidence of eye-witnesses, securely locked in Army files, common sense and uncensored interviews verify the fear that countless American boys were murdered or permitted to die through the proper medication, or still will be held in remote Communist cells after "Big Switch."

The latest MIA figures total 13,285. Our negotiators in Panmunjom secured the freedom of 3313 Yanks.

There has been an official tendency during the long months of truce - seeking to blanket the frightful fate of our young men. This shouldn't be lightly criticized, for they were thinking of tomorrow as well as yesterday.

During the early part of the conflict, when we were deep in North Korea, I accompanied Army and Navy photographic teams which took thousands of feet of film recording the atrocities. We then planned to try Red warmakers for crimes, a la Nuremberg. But later, after setbacks, the photographic evidence was padlocked.

The uglier truth is that the Communists were more considerate of British and other UN captives than Americans. A typical affidavit, offered by a Commonwealth trooper released during "Little Switch," told how he was originally caged with Americans. Later, the Chinese found he was from a British division. They apologized and shifted him to vastly improved quarters.

Look at these telltale figures: 3313 Americans will be released, against 920 British. Yet at no time has there been a combat line with less than seven Americans for every British. In major battles, the U. S. units were under the most pressure.

In exchange for 12,763 soldiers, we are sending back 74,000 Communists. It's a strange trade. Our negotiators time and time again expressed disappointment at the Communist figure, but they refused to let the dream of peace be wrecked over this matter.

Americans previously released said there was no question but that many GIs were marched deep into China and the USSR itself.

All this is a repetition of previous Soviet trickery. Long after the Russians said they no longer were holding any Japs or Germans, hundreds escaped or were released—sick and broken, or no further value as slave labor.

As we move from military truce to political parity, the ghosts of the missing Americans will tap, tap, tap on the shoulders of UN diplomats.

Roller Skaters Can Give Thanks For Maple Floor

By S. A. WELLS

The Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association, one of the oldest trade group organizations in the United States, celebrates its 56th anniversary this year. During these years, member companies have produced a total of five billion feet of northern hard maple, beech and birch flooring.

There are some interesting facts to be found in old records of the industry concerning early uses of maple flooring and the manufacturing procedure in Colonial times compared with the modern methods of manufacture used today.

It is interesting to note that the demand for maple flooring for roller-skating rink came struck down with the invention of the machines for manufacturing finished ready-to-lay maple flooring as we know it today.

The earliest use of northern hard maple flooring dates back to the Revolutionary fathers. It was laid only in the finest homes because it was too costly for use in small cottages, churches, schools and stores. Maple flooring was a luxury in those days, due to the task of dressing the flinty maple with a jack-plane. The hand dressing was a back-breaking procedure and we learn that carpenters were not too happy with this type of work.

Maple flooring continued to be hand-worked, however, until about 1885. Early in the eighties, the roller-skating rink craze struck this country. It was soon demonstrated that maple was the only species of wood that could withstand successfully the grilling and intensive wear demanded of rolled rink floors.

Since the rinks required this smooth, resilient and virtually indestructible flooring product, and the owners seemingly were solvent enough to pay the almost prohibitive price for hand dressing, there was a sudden and insistent demand for immense areas of maple floors. The demand, however, could not be met and under this pressure for more and more maple flooring, the machines for making a finished, ready-to-lay product were developed.

These machines took the back-ache out of finishing maple flooring and sent the jack-plane into oblivion, installing a roller skating rink floor was an easier task than laying a small kitchen floor under the jack-plane era of finishing.

The development of machines to meet the demand for roller skating rink floors opened the way to make a maple floor as easy to lay as the then commonly used softwood floors. The demand for maple increased immediately for homes, stores, schools, churches and industrial buildings.

The roller skating craze is still with us and northern hard maple has never lost its popularity as the only product for rink floors. The demand for new roller skating rinks this year is perhaps the largest since 1906, when advertisements in the Chicago newspapers announced that the Italian band, directed by the great "Creator" was appearing at the "Roller Skating Palace" in Chicago's San Souci Park. As in 1906, the roller skating rink today is a real part of the community.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE TREND—Locally and nationally the urban dweller is becoming the suburbanite. The population shift is creating some interesting speculation and a number of problems.

Why does the city dweller yearn for the country? And still more to the point—why is he moving there in increasing numbers?

Some 20 years ago a depression caught the people of the country with most of their assets in stocks and bonds—and few vegetables in their gardens.

Since then the philosophy of Americans has shifted from a city to a country viewpoint, although the stock and bond investments are greater than ever. Now they want money in the bank, a flower and vegetable garden, grass rather than concrete underfoot, and the feeling of security that only comes to the landowner.

So folks are moving from the city to the country in search of security, peace of mind, and an opportunity for greater privacy and rural recreation.

BALANCE SHEET—There are both advantages and disadvantages in living in the country as every farm dweller will admit.

On the credit side are the following: Lower taxes, increased independence, closer family and neighborhood ties, and the comfortable feeling of "elbow room".

On the debit side is the increased inconvenience in shopping, higher transportation costs to reach shopping and recreation centers, the necessity to transport children to and from school and to send them outside the community for high school education.

Living in town has its debits and credits also. It is more costly to live in town, for the city dweller is taxed for a number of services which the country resident provides at his own expense or does without—garbage collection, sewage disposal, to mention two.

Against this is the convenience in living near shops, schools, churches, parks; in having the opportunity to enjoy more organized entertainments; to receive more effective fire and police protection—for which he pays more, of course.

PROBLEMS CREATED—The withdrawal of families from the city to the country is creating new problems for the governmental units.

People who move just outside the city limit, for example, sometimes fail to understand that since the city cannot tax their property it can no longer provide them with city services.

Yet the suburbanite often prefers to send his children to city schools, would like water and sewer lines extended to his home, and cannot understand why he is unable to receive these benefits.

His removal from the community, if in large numbers, meanwhile creates a financing problem for the city. Services must be maintained as before, but on a tax base that is declining rather than growing.

THE NEW CONCEPT—Dwellers in the townships also face increasing problems in connection with public services as the population grows.

Schools that were already crowded become over-crowded and must be expanded. Additional elementary teachers must be hired, bus routes extended, and the possibility of constructing community high schools explored.

Increased population in a township inevitably brings requests for services not heretofore considered essential—fire protection, improved traffic and police patrol, better highway maintenance, construction of sidewalks, installation of traffic lights.

The population volume calls for organized recreation programs; perhaps parks and skating rinks and tennis courts must be provided.

But this is what the people want—and in their unorganized exodus from the cities they are creating city conditions and problems in suburban communities.

The day of the 50-foot lot, the houses crowding row on row, however, is forever past. The individual search for more living room is pioneering a new type of suburban development.

Speaking of good luck, there is only one more Friday the 13th in 1953 to have bad luck. Comes in November.

Two teen-age boys robbed an elderly widow in Ohio of $175. When they're caught, good luck to them?

As a last resort, get into a poker game with your boss. Maybe he'll give you a raise.

Great Steel Jam May Be Cracking Up

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The great steel jam may be cracking up at last. Orders are coming into the mills a little slower. A few cancellations have been reported. For the first time since 1949 a balance in supply and demand appears in sight. Customers of the copper, zinc and lead producers also are reported showing caution in placing orders very far ahead. Here the great uncertainty is price with world markets unsettled.

Farm Incomes Skid
In steel the easing comes from many sources. Farm incomes have fallen as prices skidded. So farmers aren't buying farm machinery the way they were. And the makers of farm machinery are laying off workers, and cancelling future orders for steel. The big General Motors fire at its Livonia, Mich., transmission plant is crippling three of its auto making divisions. Output cutbacks there may cut steel orders for later in the year.

Military tank and truck production is being cut back, lessening demand for steel from that quarter. The weekly magazine Steel notes today the bottleneck in hot-rolled carbon steel bars is beginning to crack and "may herald the return soon of a ready availability of most forms of steel." The bars are the most universally used form of steel, the magazine points out. "Almost every end product made of steel contains some amount of hot-rolled bar or its descendant, the cold-finished bar," Steel says. Scrap Prices Soften Steel scrap prices are showing some softness. This market is widely accepted as an indicator of future steel business. One of the big reasons for steel finally swinging toward balance of supply and demand, of course, is the increasing supply. The great postwar expansion program of the steel industry has added impressively to the total capacity of the nation's steel mills. Newer and more efficient mills are pouring out a record tonnage. But the steel mills aren't worried—at least the larger companies aren't. They have big customers still going strong. The construction industry is putting up more buildings this year than ever before—fewer homes, perhaps, but more office and store buildings, more industrial plants. Big highway projects are in the works. So are institutions like hospitals and schools.

Dental Service Curtailed By VA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands of veterans who have been promised free dental treatment by the Veterans Administration aren't going to get it.

This was disclosed today by a VA official who asked not to be named as the VA announced new, stricter rules for giving dental treatment to veterans. He said the rules were changed to carry out a change made by Congress in the law providing the treatment.

Under the new rules, a veteran may get treatment for dental trouble he can trace directly to his military service or found to be aggravating a disability he received in service. Under the old rules, he could also get free treatment if he could trace his dental trouble to a condition which showed up within a year after he left the service.

At the direction of Congress, the VA must apply the new rules to a backlog of 250,000 veterans who already have been promised treatment under the old rules.

Edward J. Flynn Dies In Ireland

DUBLIN (AP)—Edward J. Flynn, American Democratic party leader, died here Monday night.

The 61-year-old Democratic national committeeman and leader of the Bronx, New York, had been vacationing here. He died in a hospital.

Long in ill-health he sailed from New York for Ireland on Mauretania July 25. He went aboard the liner in a wheelchair. His wife and 17-year-old daughter Sheila sailed with him.

Flynn was credited, with James A. Farley, in obtaining the Democratic presidential nomination for Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 despite the opposition of Tammany Hall.

He succeeded Farley as Democratic national chairman in 1940 and managed Roosevelt's successful third term bid.

Educator Loses Rights At Baraga

LANSING (AP)—Napoleon Martin, 60, former school superintendent at Baraga, Mich., today was stripped of his right to hold a Michigan teacher's certificate.

The certificate was revoked by the State Board of Education after Martin had been convicted of padding school enrollment records.

He pleaded guilty in Baraga County Circuit Court to adding the parochial school enrollment to that of the public schools to illegally increase his district's share of state aid.

He drew a two-year suspended sentence and a $250 fine.

The board has power to reinstate the certificate, said Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction. It is unlikely to do so, however, he added, during the period of the suspended sentence.

Auditors for the Department of Public Instruction found that Martin's padding resulted in a $20,000 overpayment of state aid to the Baraga district in the last two years.

Today is safety patrol day at the fair and hundreds of safety patrol youngsters from the entire Upper Peninsula are guests of the fair board.

House Control Big 1954 Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican claim that the GOP will strengthen its control of the House next year brought a Democratic retort today that it's too early to make predictions on the outcome of the 1954 voting.

Democrats are counting heavily on tradition to recapture House control in November 1954. Tradition says that the party in power loses seats in an off-year election, in which there is no presidential contest.

Only once in modern times, in 1934, did the voting deviate from that tradition.

Right now Democrats trail Republicans in the House by 6 seats. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), who is chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, has the job of directing the GOP's bid for continued control of the House, claims Republicans will pick up 25 more seats next year.

Simpson's Democratic counterpart, Rep. Mike Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, wasn't available for comment but his top political aide, Victor Hunt Harding, said:

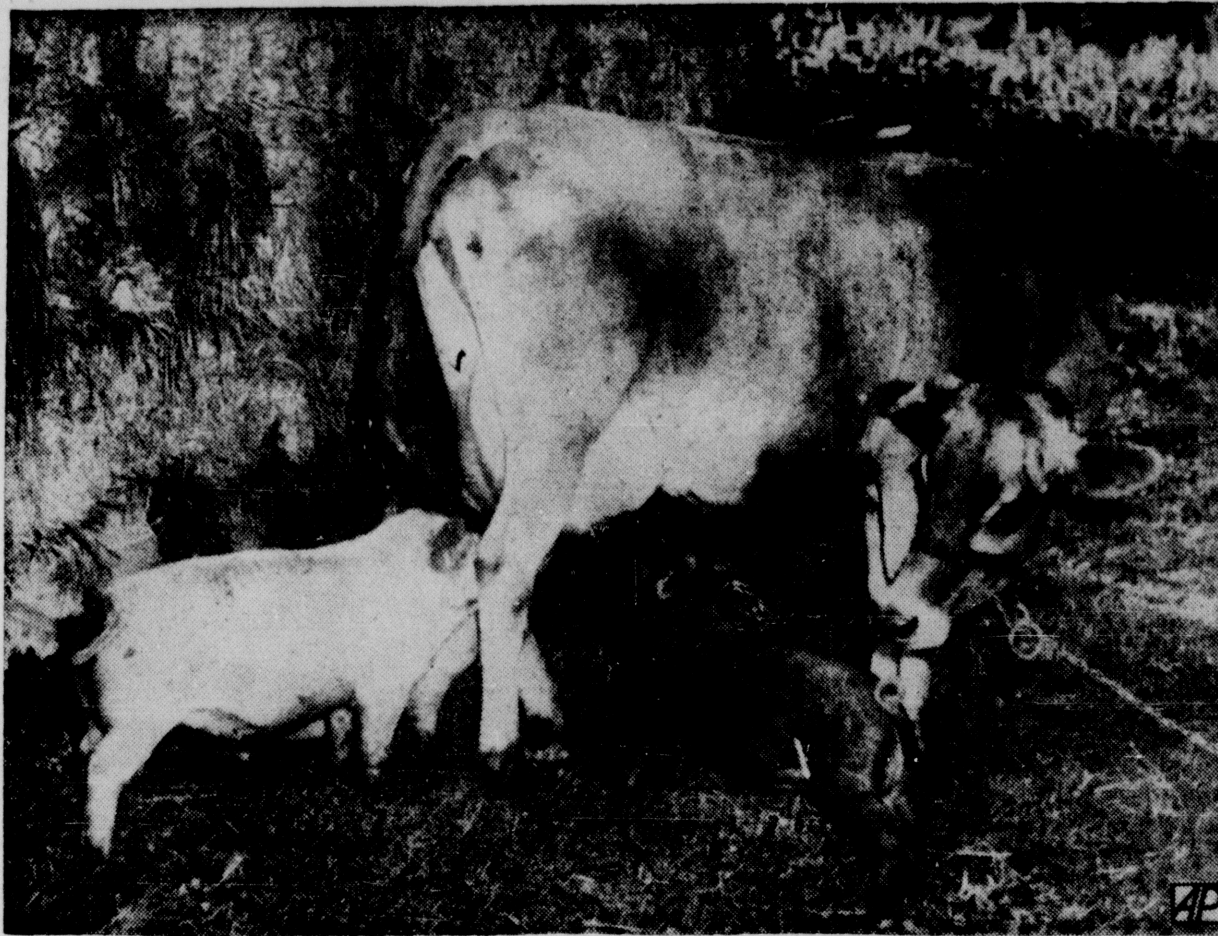

"I am making no predictions at this time. It's too early to make predictions on an election more than a year away."

Collision Kills 2

HILLSDALE (AP)—Two women were killed Monday night in a car collision on US-112, six miles east of Jonesville. They were Mrs. Lucille Williams, 70, and Rachel W. Baughman, 57, both of Reading. Witnesses said their car struck an oncoming auto while making a turn off the highway.

Plug Pioneer Dies

NEW BALTIMORE (AP)—Alfred H. Helwig, who invented a gadget that he claimed was the first spark plug, died Monday at the age of 79. Helwig, a native of Detroit, had a repair shop for the earliest autos and pioneered in outboard motor racing.

French Walkout Situation Tense

PARIS (AP)—Defiant union leaders today ignored Premier Joseph Laniel's threats of tougher action to end France's crippling strikes and continued their nationwide walkout. As tension mounted, the government moved about 500 parachute troops into Paris to cope with possible violence.

In a surprise broadcast to the nation Monday night, Laniel made an impassioned plea to the workers to go back to their jobs. A critical paralysis of nationally operated industries and public services went into its second week.

The Premier told union leaders he would negotiate with them no more unless there was a return to work today, and implied tougher action—possibly use of the Army—to break the strikes.

The threat brought quick defiance from some union organizations, and as the morning wore on there was no move to return to work. Although three companies of parachute troops were brought into the city to bolster the capital's police, a government source denied reports that tanks had been rushed into the city. He pointed out that there are always tanks in the Paris area, where a number of Army barracks are located.

Assistant Cashier Abducted; Branch Bank Robbed Of $160,000

FLORAL PARK, N. Y. (AP)—Gunmen today held up a branch of the Franklin National Bank, abducted the assistant cashier and escaped with $160,000. The assistant cashier was released unharmed a few miles away.

Cashier Eric Gronewald told police this story: As he left home this morning, a man stepped out of the bushes, jammed a gun in his ribs and ordered him into his car.

As they drove to the bank, Gronewald was aware of another car following with another man in it.

At the bank, the gunman forced him to open the vault, took the money and then ordered him back into the car and drove him to Queens County where he was thrown out.

Good For Oysters

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Maryland land farmers were hit recently by a lengthy dry spell. During the same drought, underwater farms were prospering—as a direct result of the dry spell.

Chairman Arthur H. Brice of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission explained that during the drought less fresh water ran into the Chesapeake Bay, thus boosting the amount of salt which favors the growth of oysters and other seafoods.

Statue Wrong Color

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The Champlin Women's Relief Corps No. 41 of the Grand Army of the Republic had city officials pretty embarrassed today.

The irate ladies pointed out that a city statue erected years ago in memory of the "Boys in Blue" is painted Confederate gray. Furthermore, they said, the statue "leans a little toward the Mason-Dixon Line."

City Manager Millard Moore promised the statue would get a new coat of paint (blue) and a straightening-up job.

Polio Fight Aided

LANSING (AP)—Hillsdale, Macomb and Wayne counties have been emergency aid to fight polio, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today.

Checks totaling $49,250 are on the way to chapters in those counties. Hillsdale got $10,250, Macomb $14,000 and Wayne $25,000.

Mossadegh, Rhee On Powder Kegs

ing over the country to his liking. Rhee is defiant as a rooster. He keeps the air crackling with pronouncements on his attitudes and desires. Not so Mossadegh.

The Iranian has fits of fainting and weeping spells which he manages in private conference.

Mossadegh, a Johnny-come-lately to high office was a minor figure in Iran until he became premier a few years ago. He swam to the top on the wave of nationalism which swept over Iran after World War II.

Future Hazy

For 40 years, through their ownership of Iranian oil production, the British had been a force, perhaps the controlling force, in Iran. Mossadegh led the Iranians in throwing out the British and taking the oil.

That's a problem that has never been settled. But Mossadegh moved from one internal crisis to another until now the question of a settlement on oil is overshadowed by the question of Iran's whole future.

Rhee, on the other hand, had been a Korean rallying point most of his life. It was only natural he should become president of South Korea when the people had their first chance to elect one, in 1948.

He began fighting the Korean monarchy for reforms in 1894. For this he was jailed and tortured.

Mossadegh, too, had his troubles with monarchy in his homeland. Long ago he was jailed by Reza Shah, father of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi who had to flee from Mossadegh Sunday. Mossadegh evaded an old score with that one.

Oberlin was a coeducational school from its beginning in 1833, a somewhat unusual status at that time.

Increased Debt Limit Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he regards the controversy over lifting the ceiling on the national debt as "one of the milestones in the preservation of the solvency of our government."

"If we increase the debt limit now to 290 billion, it will reach that and then go to 300 billion and then over the precipice of financial disaster," Byrd said in a copyrighted interview with the U. S. News and World Report.

Byrd was one of the 11-4 majority of the Senate Finance Committee which voted down President Eisenhower's request to Congress to hike the legal debt limit from 275 to 290 billion dollars. The debt is now about 272 1/2 billions.

Byrd said he saw no reason why the administration can't manage its fiscal affairs so as to avoid having to raise the debt ceiling.

Stolen Mig Escape Flops For AP Man And Pilot In Korea

Editor's Note: Frank Noel, photographer and Pulitzer Prize winner in 1943, came back from more than 32 months in a Communist prison camp on Aug. 9. In this second of a series of three stories he tells of the thwarted plan of an American pilot with whom he escaped to steal a Russian-made MIG 15 jet fighter and fly it to an American base.

By FRANK NOEL

As told to Olen Clements
TOKYO (AP)—In the minds of prisoners—whether it is Leavenworth or a Communist hole in North Korea—escape always is running through your mind.

Four times I planned to escape. Once I did.

It was with a pilot, Capt. Zachary Dean of Kansas. It happened in August, 1951.

I had been a prisoner then nearly a year. Dean, a P-51 pilot, was shot down in April, 1951. He was a bridegroom of six days.

Bribery Easy

Dean, a lanky Kansan with the guts of a lion, wanted to steal a MIG-15 and fly it back to an airfield in South Korea. Being in the Air Force he knew how much those things were worth. So we planned to swim the Yalu, sneak down around Antung, Manchuria, lie up around the airport a few days, and watch the Chinese security guards. Eventually he planned to snatch a hot jet and fly it away.

I was going to steal a fishing boat or bribe or clobber somebody and get out the best way I could. There were three of us involved in the escape plot.

We began to connive, scrape food bowls for leftovers and hoard up everything we could lay hands on that we could eat or use for trading or bribery.

Communists are easy to bribe. We knew the route from the camp we were going to take. It was through a corn patch. But the corn wasn't high enough. So we watched that corn grow, kept an eye on the moon and bided our time.

Jaundice Spoils Plan

One stormy night looked like the night. We were ready. The third man had just come down with yellow jaundice.

Dean and I decided to go it alone.

We sneaked out into that corn patch. The rain was beating down. We had all our possessions—Dean's wrist watch, two or three fountain pens, about $10 in greenbacks I had borrowed from Turkish prisoners, a straight razor Dean had stolen from the company barber shop, a Boy Scout knife I had, a couple of rocks and the cover for a sleeping bag which we were going to use for a sail on any small boat we might steal.

We got through that corn patch all right.

It took us most all night, but we swam a half-mile wide lake and got over on the other side of it. Probably all night long we walked. Yet we didn't make over a mile from the camp. But we had the lake between us and the camp. We slept all day in some bushes. That night we stumbled right into a Korean road block.

There were a couple of guards in the hut and they heard us. They stumbled out in their underwear, carrying those bamboo pike spears of theirs and making a lot of noise because they were scared.

They looked around, went back into the hut and closed the hut door.

Hidden In Cowshed

Dean and I took off in high gear. It was good and dark when we stirred. Only Dean had a watch. Dean began to get sick. His back hurt. There was a swelling in his groin. He had hepatitis.

Oh, yes, I forgot. The Chinese inoculated 120 of us with the same needle. The last 20 or so, you could hear the needle as it screwed its way through the tissues.

It was jaundice Dean had. There was no mistake.

We had to find a place to hide. Finally we saw a cowshed and crawled in there.

We had been there three days and nights in a torrential rain. We saw a farm compound and decided we'd take a chance. Maybe they wouldn't turn us in. Dean could get two or three days rest.

We made a mistake. There were about seven families in it. That's where your Communism comes in. One of them turned us in. We'd taken a long shot and lost.

Somebody Tells

They did give us warm food, kindness, dry tobacco. Then the insidiousness of Communism reared its ugly head.

Somebody had to report us, we knew, so we started to leave. We got out on the road. We didn't know it but we were only six kilometers from the Yalu. We knew its direction and we started that way. These Koreans said that we should go the other way. Then they grabbed us.

Dean was much taller so two of the three men who were trying to detain us grabbed him and one grabbed me on the left shoulder. I grabbed his thumb and doubled it up. It must have hurt him to his elbow.

Dean whipped out his razor he stole from the company barber and he made a couple of swipes

Santa In August

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Hey, kids, Santa Claus has come to Richmond. That's right—in August.

One block of the city's main thoroughfare, Broad Street, is all decked out in Christmas decorations—colored lights, gaily ornamented trees, reindeer and figures of Santa and his helpers.

The out-of-season yuletide is the work of local merchants and ornament manufacturers. They just want to have an early look at their ware before December rolls around.

China To Increase Grain Production

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Peiping radio says Communist China intends to double its annual grain production within the next ten years to reach an output of 300,000,000 tons a year.

The figure was announced by Teng Tzu-hwei, vice chairman of the Financial Economic Affairs committee of the ruling Red Administration Council, said a broadcast heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco. He said the production increase could be accompanied only by mechanizing China's agriculture through big-scale farm collectives.

Tossed Into Hole

Then they found us. The kids found us.

They turned about 50 boys between 10 and 12 loose to look for us.

Then the grown folks moved in. They bound our arms behind us and bound us together with ropes. They said we had to march back the whole 27 miles we had come from the camp.

They never let us loose until we got back to the camp.

Then they threw us in the hole—Dean for two months. I got six.

Neither of us served the full sentence but the Communists never let us forget that we still had part of our sentence hanging over our heads.

Dean served about 32 days in that hole—an abandoned, uncleaned latrine.

I served about 42 days in a better hole which was not a latrine. But it stank.

The Communists—they are bastards.

Roots, Herbs And Magic Benefit Medical Science

WASHINGTON—Far-off lands and the "superstitions" of primitive tribes still are important contributors to the medicines of modern science.

Into the warehouses of huge pharmaceutical firms come not only basic chemicals to be compounded into today's exact prescriptions and drugs, but also tons of strange, exotic plant materials from the world around, the National Geographic Society says.

One company reports it uses 140 different types of medicinal plants. Crude drugs arrive in paper-and-vanish containers from the Orient and in woven baskets from the tropics. Storage bins smell like apothecary shops of old.

Ancient Remedies

The science that deals with the history, collection, identification and use of drug plants is known as pharmacognosy. It is as old as medicine itself.

Priest-doctors of Assyria knew the use of several hundred plant remedies. They treated wounds with sea kelp and goiter with burnt sponge, both rich in iodine used for the same purposes today.

In the Middle Ages arose the so-called "doctrine of signatures," a belief that Nature gives clues to its plant remedies for man's ailments. Hepatica, for example, had liver-shaped leaves; therefore it was believed to be a liver remedy. The walnut was used as a brain medicine, bloodroot as a blood tonic.

Such homely potions, based more on superstition than on science, were widely used even a few generations ago. Herbs gathered as medicines were called "simples." As medical knowledge other primitive medicine men, from the tribes of inner Africa to the American Indians, have given medicine many an important drug.

The South American tribe that first chewed the bark of the cinchona tree when stricken with jungle fever, gave quinine to the world. Curare, the deadly native arrow poison, now is widely used as a muscle relaxer.

North American Indians discovered the use of cascara, made from bark of the buckthorn tree. Wild parsnip, which they used, has been discovered to yield a drug active against pneumonia and meningitis. Another old Indian remedy was found several years ago to damage cancers in mice.

Medical scientists today take very seriously new reports of strange or primitive cures. No matter how fantastic they may seem, they are investigated in the hope that some might lead to important medical discoveries.

O-JIB-WA REALLY HELPS ARTHRITIS SAYS MRS. ANDERSON

It's a terrible thing to suffer with rheumatism and arthritis, especially when you begin to wonder if you'll ever be free of its pain. Many other people, like Mrs. Charlotte Anderson, Lowell, Michigan, have experienced this feeling before using O-JIB-WA BITTERS.

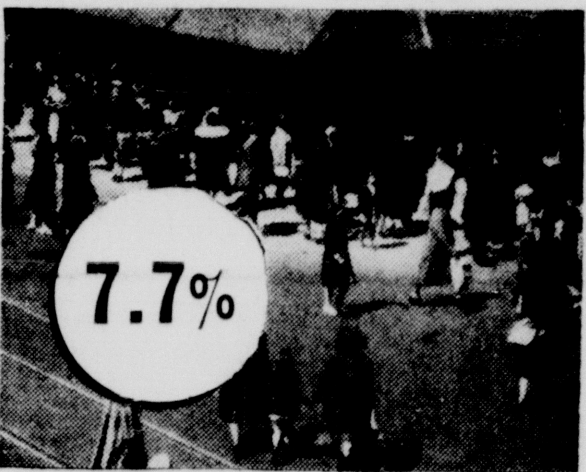

"I suffered from rheumatism and arthritis in my knees, hands and arms for so long, I had practically given up hope, before I tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS. The only way I could get around was by hanging on the back of a chair or by use of my cane. I had to be helped up and down the stairs, and it took every bit of strength I had to get in or out of bed. All I did was sit in a chair all day and even in the summer on my porch, my legs were so cold and painful I kept them covered with a blanket. I've had faith in herbs all my life, and therefore, when I read in my paper about your all herb medicine and the wonderful results other people were getting from it, I started taking some. Its hard to believe, but in just 10 days I felt ever so much better. Now, that I have taken your Bitters for three months, I want to tell everybody how good I feel. O-JIB-WA BITTERS has taken away all my pains and stiffness. This fine tonic has also greatly helped my kidneys and except for tiring easily, I feel wonderful for a woman 76 years old."

Commie Double-Cross On PWs Clouds Hopes For Real Peace

By FRED SPARKS
FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea — (NEA)—Helicopters hum over this strange city of shacks and tents, carrying to final sanctuary our hurt young men—broken not in battle but in Communist prison camps.

This tragic airborne traffic clouds not only the days and nightmares of the witnesses, but also any lingering hopes of an honorable settlement at the forthcoming peace conference.

For another documented conviction of the double-cross and double-think of Chinese Communism is being written right here.

During "Little Switch" we were assured all our sick and wounded prisoners were being returned. But about the lad who just came back with a crudely stitched-up belly from wounds he suffered in 1950?

Did the Chinese accidentally overlook him—and hundreds of others like him—during Little Switch?

I am told that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and South Korean President Syngman Rhee, while still apart on fine political points, are united in their doubt of the success of the peace parley. The manner of the prisoner exchange which they witnessed has done this.

In 1945 I accompanied relief teams liberating GIs held by the Japanese. Their stories, told while imperial guards awaited someone to accept their surrender, paralleled present sufferings, with this exception: Generally the Communists didn't allow individuals to beat our soldiers, as was often permitted behind Jap prison wire. But Chinese and North Koreans, using tactics polished by the Soviet OGPU, proved that a brave man can be turned into a whimpering wretch without touching him—by pressuring his mind and withholding proper food and medicines.

Thus starving and diseased GIs—as good Americans as you are—had their brains dulled, informed on their fellow prisoners, and became known as "GI Chinks."

Kindly treatment by loved ones will correct their mistake and erase the hatred of prison mates.

Not only have the Communists violated the Little Switch pledge and all written and unwritten laws of common decency, but it is now obvious they have no intention of returning all POWs they hold.

Repeatedly GIs insist that chums have been marched into Manchuria, particularly those who were skilled mechanics.

The absolutely shattering condition of the South Koreans being returned will surely needle Rhee's determination to refuse any compromise with his Communist neighbor.

I've seen my share of massive misery in my years as a war correspondent, but seldom before have I seen faces with such deeply etched bitterness as those of Seoul citizens as they watch healthy and well-fed Communists being trucked north, then turn their heads to see helicopters landing their countrymen with arms bone-thin and expressions like a death mask.

How To Prepare Wood Floors For Asphalt Tile Job

BY MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

If you are planning to install an asphalt tile floor in an expansion attic, or on any wooden subfloor, there are a number of fundamentals you need to become acquainted with.

First, as one manufacturer points out, a resilient tile floor (asphalt tile is included in that category) is no better than the subfloor it covers. If there are cracks, humps, raised nail heads and like defects in the subfloor, they'll show up in the finished job.

Paint, varnish, oil or wax should be entirely removed from attic subfloors before the tile installation is begun. Cracks wider than 1/8 - inch and holes larger than 1/4-inch should be filled. The floor must be firm, even and hard.

After the floor has been properly cleaned or sanded, apply a prime coat of floor and wall size to keep the bare wood from absorbing moisture from adhesive. Asphalt and other resilient tiles should not be laid over single-thickness wood floors. If a single wood floor consists of tongue-and-groove boards less than three inches wide, it may be covered with hardboard or five-ply plywood. If the floor is of straight-edge boards, cover it with tongue-and-groove lumber. Wooden subfloors of straight-edge boards are too springy.

Before installing hardboard or plywood underlayment, cover the subfloor with building paper nailed in place. Install board-type underlayments in 4x4-foot squares with staggered joints, rough side up for better bonding with adhesive, and spaced 1/16-inch apart. Nail underlayment to floor with three-penny cement or resin-coated nails spaced six inches apart.

If you use a hardboard or plywood underlayment, it is not necessary to paste lining felt over it before installing asphalt tiles. Other resilient tiles require lining felt, and asphalt tiles do, too, if laid on floors that take no underlayment.

Where lining felt is used, lay it at right angles to the direction of the floor boards. Seams in the felt should be butted, never overlapped, because the laps will show up as ridges in the finished floor. Cut felt to fit accurately with as few seams as possible.

As each piece is cut, turn it upside down to take out the curl and make it hug the floor. After all pieces are in place, turn one end of each piece back about halfway of the room and sweep the floor. Next, spread lining felt cement on the floor evenly with a notched trowel, covering about 36 square feet with paste at one time.

Keep replacing the turned-back felt as you progress with the cementing smooth it down as quickly as possible and roll the felt thoroughly with a 100-pound linoleum roller. Then turn up the unpasted half of the felt and repeat the operation. Roll the felt from the center out, in two directions.

You are now ready to begin plotting the layout of the tile, a task that requires considerable accuracy, for the tile is started at the center of the room, not at the end or side walls. This operation will be explained in the next column to follow.

Q—How should boards be fitted to irregular wall surfaces?

A—Make sure the board is plumb against wall first, and devise a means of holding it in place. Set points of a scribe as far apart as greatest distance, between the board and wall. Hold one leg of scribe against wall and scribe line on the board. Saw board along line.

The flight of the Wright brothers' first plane in 1903 covered a distance only about one-half the wingspread of a modern heavy bomber.

Humpty Dumpty Bonanza

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK—When Dorothy Potter began to make stuffed toys for church bazaars, she had no inkling they would lead her to a money-making Humpty Dumpty production.

After years of work as a bank clerk, she had married a New York bank vault officer and now found she had some hours free after she finished her housekeeping tasks. She wanted to use them to help her church and made the toys. They fascinated her and lured her further. Before long she began to produce a Humpty Dumpty, using a magazine pattern, and now sells both big and little versions of it regularly.

Her big Humpty Dumpty calls for the following materials: One-eighth yard each of red and white percale; quilting cotton (or cotton batting) enough for one quilt; blue, red and black embroidery cotton; one package of fingering yarn; two-thirds of a yard of red and white cotton ruffling; one-half yard of red satin ribbon half an inch wide.

This is the procedure you could follow making your own simple pattern:

Cut a pattern for the body, arms and legs, lay it on the red percale and cut them out. Make a pattern for the head and hands, lay it on the white percale and cut these out. On the white percale face section draw an outline of eyes, nose and mouth.

Seam and stuff the arms and legs with cotton and sew them into the body. Sew the body and the head. Sew the red and white ruffle on the lower edge of the head, then sew the head and body together, leaving a side seam partially open for stuffing. Turn Humpty Dumpty right side out and stuff him with the quilting cotton, using a long blunt stick to wedge it into place. Mrs. Potter uses a Chinese chopstick for this. Sew up the side seam.

Outline the features with an outline stitch—the mouth in red and the eye outlines and smile lines in black. Put in the blue eyes with a satin stitch.

To make the nose, take a cardboard rectangle one and one-half inches deep and wind red yarn around it. Tie it with a piece of yarn and slip it off the cardboard, then cut the loops. Now shape it with a scissors to make a pom-pom nose and sew it in place.

Tie the red satin ribbon into a bow and sew it under Humpty Dumpty's chin.

Dead Duck Stirs Up Los Angeles Ruckus

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Everything was ducky until Ducky Sue—a fowl of questionable temperament—came between neighbors.

Ducky Sue belonged to Joseph Hajj; that is, he did until Jack Stewart dispatched Sue to duck heaven. Stewart said he killed the bird after she nipped his infant daughter's fingers. Hajj said "non-sense, the duck was the pet of his two daughters and had never nipped their fingers."

By the time several squad cars arrived on the scene, police reported Stewart was struck on the head by a stove grate. Hajj's wife was welding kitchen utensils, and Stewart's wife countered with a garden hose.

Stewart planned to charge Hajj with assault and battery. Hajj said he would do the same for Stewart. All over one dead duck.

Steel Industry Bets Millions On Pellets Taken From Taconite

By JAMES KLOBUCHAR

BEAVER BAY, Minn. (AP)—The steel industry is betting millions of dollars that marble-sized, man-made pellets of iron ore will provide a vast, continuing source of raw material when present reserves of high grade ore are gone. These pellets are concentrates of the tiny specks of iron found in an extremely hard rock called taconite. The small amount of iron in taconite and the hard rock's tight grip on the iron makes the material unusable in blast furnaces.

With the end of the rich ore only 20 or 30 years away, the problem is to find a way to concentrate the iron in taconite at a cost which is commercially practical.

The money and energy which various steel companies are pouring into that job show they think it can be done.

Taconite reserves are huge since they completely surround the relatively little pockets of high grade ore in the Lake Superior area which have kept the steel industry going for 60 years. Some experts estimate taconite reserves at five billion tons. About two billions of rich ore have been consumed since 1884.

Experiments on concentrating taconite began at pilot plants in the late 1940s. Their work shows there's no question that taconite can be converted into an ore with a higher iron content than the natural ores now being shipped.

The hitch is in the expense. Taconite contains only about 25 per cent iron while the iron-making blast furnaces require ore with a 50 per cent content or better. And about three tons of taconite must be processed to get one ton of usable ore.

The concentrating process demands a maze of crushers and magnetic separators to pull the iron specks from the rock. It takes at least three times as many workers to produce a ton of concentrated ore as it does to handle a ton of natural ore.

When the country's high grade natural ore is gone, taconite will have to compete with natural ore now being tapped in places like Labrador and Venezuela. That ore, while rich in iron, must undergo a long voyage which adds to its cost. And the foreign ores might be cut off in war time.

Three pilot plants, owned by separate interests, are turning out taconite concentrates. They are the plants of Reserve Mining Co., owned by Republic and Arco Steel; Erie Mining Co., affiliated with Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Interlake Iron, and Pckands-Mather; and the Oliver Mining Division of U.S. Steel Corp.

Reserve and Erie, the furthest advanced, both plan private railroads to haul their taconite to Lake Superior's north shore.

Reserve has built pre-fabricated towns at Babbitt—site of its pilot plant—and at Beaver Bay about 50 miles north of Duluth on Lake Superior.

Beaver Bay is one of the eye-popping, engineering jobs of recent years. A veritable wilderness two years ago, Beaver Bay will be the site of a taconite conversion plant expected to produce 10 million tons of taconite pellets a year. The pellets will be about 65 per cent iron.

At Beaver Bay, giant shovels and drills are tearing at the rocky lake shore to build a site for the full scale conversion plant. Two man-made breakwaters link the mainland with small islands to form a harbor from which pellets will be shipped to blast furnaces in the lower Great Lakes region.

Pacific Bird Probably Exterminated By Man

WASHINGTON—The short-tailed albatross of the Pacific Ocean may have followed the dodo, the great auk and the Labrador duck into extinction.

The short-tailed or Steller's albatross (Diomedea albatrus) was the largest and handsomest of the three Pacific albatrosses, says the National Geographic Society. Steller's was not the wandering albatross of the Southern ocean, which likes to follow ships, but a shy bird going its windswept way from the South China coast to Kamchatka, from the Bering Sea to Lower California.

Nested Off Japan

First described by an ornithologist in 1780, it nested in numbers in the northern Bonin Islands, the southern Izus and southern Ryukyus—all islands off the coast of Japan. Then came the world feather trade, starting about 1885, which almost cost America its white egret.

Hunters, mostly Japanese, started a persecution of the big white bird which ended at last in January, 1933, with the ruthless slaughter of 3,000 Steller's albatrosses on volcanic Tori Shima, between the Bonins and the Japanese home islands. Wiped out in anticipation of a Japanese law to save them, these birds were the last known definitely to exist.

Several times since that infamous massacre, mariners have reported seeing lone Steller's albatrosses at sea. The latest report came in 1951 from scientists aboard the British oceanographic survey ship Challenger, which discovered the record 35,640-foot was tame and stupid on the nesting grounds. A hunter could club several hundred a day on their nests, built on the ground. Eggs frequently were left to spoil and chicks to starve. If the bird did try to fly away, hunters could easily catch it while making the long run needed for its takeoff.

Steller's hatched only a single chick at a time. Insect parasites and crows often killed the little ones. Even grown birds occasionally perished if they landed in a valley or depression where there was no room for a takeoff run. But ornithology's record in this tragic case is crystal clear. Man killed off the Steller's albatross, as he has exterminated so many others of the world's specialized birds.

It Takes A HEAP OF HAULING ...to make a Home!

IF YOU'VE BUILT a new home recently—or are in the midst of doing so now—you know how dependent building is on motor transport.

From the moment the big excavating shovel arrives at the vacant lot astride a low-bed truck-trailer to dig the hole for your basement, it's a steady procession of trucks of one kind or another until the house is ready for occupancy.

Cement blocks, sand, steel, lumber, roofing, brick, plumbing, hardware, paint—everything that goes into the building of your home has to get to the site in motor trucks.

Then, when you arrive at the point where you're ready to move in, you call on motor transport again to transport your household furnishings for you.

How To Choose Right Handbag

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

How many handbags have you owned that didn't live up to your expectations in one or more of these aspects—roominess, comfort and style? You can avoid such disappointment in your new fall handbag if you bear certain points in mind when shopping.

Much has been said about scaling a handbag to your size. Put a prospective new bag over your arm and stand before a full-length mirror to determine whether it dwarfs you or looks ridiculously small.

Adequate room, however, is a more important factor than appearance when you decide on a size. Why not transfer your handbag contents from the one you're carrying to the one you're considering? Then you'll know whether the bag is large enough. If it's for travel, it ought to have inner compartments and plenty of extra room.

Comfort depends on light weight, flexible handles of the right length, and a neat shape. A frame and a stiff leather add to weight. Handles may cut into the arm, so try them over your arm when you shop.

A convenient bag for every day will stand on its own base without toppling and will open up quickly and easily, revealing the contents without need for groping. Your belongings will be safely inside and not liable to fall out in transit.

Choose a color that goes with most of your clothes. Black goes with everything. Leather will give you the best wear for every day. For evening, you'll want velvet, satin or faille. As for style, you'll grow less tired of a graceful, simple shape that doesn't look too much like any particular season. A lot of decoration on a bag looks fussy.

Blackberry Jelly And Jam Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Food Editor

BREATHES THERE a cook with soul so dead that, come summer, she can resist putting fresh fruit into the preserving kettle? Right now it's juicy big blackberries we're thinking of—boiling up in a purple-red glory, sending off their sweet fragrance. There to store away in small jars against winter days when a taste of summer's berry patch is so relished.

But if this fruity goodness is to be preserved to perfection, sterilizing jars and glasses is a must.

PARAFFINING comes next. Use a tin can in which to melt the paraffin. Then place a metal spoon close to the jelly's surface and let the melted paraffin flow over it onto the jelly in a layer about 1/8 inch thick. When it's set, prick any bubbles and pour a second 1/8 inch-thick layer of the paraffin. Now slightly tip and swirl the jar or glass to seal edges.

Powdered fruit pectin is called for in the following recipe. When it's used only a short boiling time is needed. Good yield results, too.

Blackberry Jelly and Jam

TO PREPARE the berries for both the jelly and jam crush thoroughly about 3 1/2 quarts ripe blackberries (not blackcaps). Place in a large sieve lined with a double thickness of cheesecloth and let juice drip through (do not squeeze). Use juice for making jelly; use fruit remaining in sieve for making jam.

TO MAKE THE JELLY, measure 3 1/2 cups juice into a large saucepan. Measure 5 cups sugar and set aside. Add one 2 1/2 ounce box powdered fruit pectin to juice in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with 1 1/8 inch hot paraffin. Makes about 7 medium glasses.

TO MAKE THE JAM, put half of fruit remaining in cheesecloth through sieve to remove some of seeds. Measure 5 cups pulp into a very large saucepan. Measure 7 cups sugar and set aside. Add one 2 1/2 ounce box powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1 1/8 inch hot paraffin. Makes about 11 medium glasses.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved husband, father, son and brother, Donald Rasmussen, who passed away one year ago today August 18, 1952.

We cannot say, and we will not say
That he is dead,—he is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there
And you, O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,—
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead,—he is just away!

ESCANABA ESKYMOS

ST. JOE TROJANS

King Football Takes Spotlight

1953 Season Openers Only 2½ Weeks Away

King football grips the sports scene hereabouts as high school gridders settle down to serious drills for the 1953 season openers just two and a half weeks away.

Coach Joe Milokna's Escanaba Eskymo football candidates work out on the spacious turf at the EHS athletic field in the above picture at the left.

One of the largest turnouts in recent years greeted the Eskymo coaching staff last week. Sixty candidates reported for the first drills and several additional new players have since joined the workouts.

Eskymos Scrimmaging

The Eskymos have been running through scrimmage plays this week in addition to conditioning exercises. "We've got good spirit and the boys are working hard in practice sessions," Milokna said. Starting positions are wide open on the Eskymo squad.

Escanaba faces a rugged eight-game schedule which opens with a long trip to Sault Ste. Marie on Sept. 4. The game will be played at Sault High gridiron at night. Following games will match the Eskymos against Green Bay West, Menominee, Kingsford, Iron Mountain, Marinette, Gladstone and Ironwood. Green Bay, Menominee, Gladstone and Ironwood are home games.

Only one serious injury has cropped up in practice sessions thus far. Dave Viau, promising sophomore fullback aspirant, suffered a broken collar bone last week and will be out of action for over a month.

There are eight lettermen back from last year in the Escanaba grid camp.

Trojans Open Sept. 5

Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joseph Trojans are working out twice daily in preparation for the opener on Saturday, Sept. 5, against the neighboring Gladstone Braves. The initial game of the 1953 campaign will be played at the Escanaba High School athletic field.

In the picture above at the right a portion of the 30-man St. Joe squad is shown in practice action at the Dock Diamond. Drills have been held morning and afternoon at Dock and will be shifted to the State Fairgrounds area after this week.

Nine lettermen are among the candidates for the current Trojan squad. Eleven of the candidates are freshman and sophomores. St. Germain has encountered no serious injury problems thus far in the practice sessions.

The Trojans have an unusually heavy slate of home games this season. They will play before the home crowd in six of their eight games. Home stands will be made against Gladstone, Stambaugh, Norway, Crystal Falls, Munising and Niagara. The Trojans travel to Bark River and Lourdes of Marinette.

Assisting St. Germain in coaching duties for the first time this year is Dominic Biagioli, new member of the St. Joseph faculty.

Defending Champ Leads Escanaba Ladies Field

Dorothy Anderson, defending champion, led the way into the second round as the annual Escanaba Golf Club women's championship tournament got underway yesterday.

The champion eliminated Bernie Schmitt by a 7 and 5 margin and this afternoon will play a second-round 18-hole match against another former champion, Ruth Needham. The latter defeated Irene Hogan, 6 and 5, in a first round affair yesterday.

Some sparkling golf was displayed in other matches as well in the first round. Betty Fuller went out in 44 to build up a five-up margin over Millie Boyce and coast to a 5 and 3 win, and Harriet Fitzharris put together two fine rounds of 48 and 47 in ousting Charlotte Harvey by 5 and 4.

In other first round matches, Rosemary LeMire, a former champion, downed Bill Wohlen, 4 and 3; Bernice Stuart edged Jean Smith, one up; Mary Loeffler eliminated Ruth Owen, 7 and 5; and Doris Swanson defeated Martha Johnson by a two-up margin.

All matches above were 18-hole affairs in the championship flight. Losers in first-round play constitute an eight-player flight in the first flight and will continue play for first flight honors.

There are 16 entrants also in the nine-hole tournament being conducted simultaneously with the official club championship meet.

Results in the nine-hole tourney yesterday were: Ann Harrington beat Trudy Rouman, one up on the eleventh hole; Peg Poffenberger beat Delight Mashek, 3 and 2; Bess Andrews beat Muriel Benzing, 3 and 2; Claire Garrard defeated Dorothy Root, one up;

Marilyn Christiansen beat Eunice Kozel, 2 and 1; Emily Lemmer beat Dede Bonifas, 5 and 4; Helen Everett beat Helen Peck, one up; and Joyce Hall beat Eunice Pohl, 5 and 4.

Yankees And Dodgers Stretch League Leads

By BEN PILEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Now that the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers virtually have run off and hidden from the rest of the clubs, they're working on a little intramural competition to hold their interest.

Their new goal is 100 victories each, well within range but still a mark that will keep them hustling. The Dodgers with 39 games left need to win 22 to hit the century mark—a figure reached by only two other Brooklyn clubs in history. The Yankees will have to win 21 of their last 38. Yankee teams in the past have reached 100 or more eight times, but not in the last 11 years.

Both the Yankees and Dodgers fattened their margins over their nearest rivals Monday night. The New Yorkers won a pair of one-sided games from Philadelphia 10-3 and 9-0 and moved nine games in front of the idle Chicago White Sox.

Brooklyn came from behind on Duke Snider's two-run homer in the ninth and then beat Pittsburgh 5-2 on Gil Hodges' three-run blast in the 11th. The Dodgers gained half a game on the unscheduled Milwaukee Braves and lead by 8½ games.

In the only other activity the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phillies split a pair in the privacy of the spacious Polo Grounds. Only 2,885 cash customers watched the Phils win the first game 5-2 and bow in the second 6-0.

Chatham Sparkplug

Pieropon's all-star battery mate, Chatham's hard-working Vadnais, caught six straight tournament games without a throwing error or a passed ball. A sparkplug in the field, he hit safely four times in 20 trips and scored twice.

Morin played errorless ball at first base for the Dells. He had three hits in 12 times at bat and scored one run. Rusha was the only other all-star with an errorless tournament record. The Harnie centerfielder had four safeties in 10 times up and scored two runs.

Shortstop Kallio was the highest scorer of the all-star selections. He crossed home plate five times on nine hits in 21 appearances. He had two errors.

Second base was filled by MacDonald who had three base hits and scored twice for the Harnies. He was charged with four misuses.

Bats Even 500

A 500 batting average with four runs scored gave Kuchenberg the third base position. He had six for 12 and one error.

Lehoullier had three hits in 11 times at the plate, scored one run and committed two errors in left field and Derouin had four hits in 12 trips, scored once and committed one miscue.

Coming in for heavy consideration was a second battery made up of Cliff Johnson, Chatham pitcher, and Jim Kennedy, Bungalow catcher. Johnson won four games and lost two (both to Pieropon) pitched 43 innings, allowed 36 hits and 14 runs, fanned 32 and walked eight.

Kennedy hit over 500 with six safeties in 11 times up, he scored three runs and had one error.

Selections were based solely on tournament play in the positions specified. No candidates were considered for a position which they did not play in the district tournament. Batting averages, play in the field and value to their teams were the basis of the selections.

Francis Boyce Is Top Man In Field Of Club Golfers

Francis Boyce won low gross with a two-over-par 38 and Hal Gerletti copped low net with a 42-10-32 in the annual Kiwanis-Lion-Rotary golf tournament at the Escanaba Golf and Country Club yesterday afternoon. Approximately 35 Escanaba service club members participated.

Arvo Hendrickson and Walter Dickson tied for the lowest number of putts used on the nine-hole round with 14 each. The former won the draw for the prize. Dick Perring had the highest number of putts, 24.

Three other draws were necessary to break ties for other prizes awarded in the tri-club tourney. Carl Benzing copped the prize for the high score on the par three seventh, John Boyle was low on six and Grover Lewis won high gross with a 54. Several were tied at 54.

The committee in charge of the tournament announced that next year's event will be held at the Escanaba Highland Club.

Kicking specialist Pepper Rodgers led Georgia Tech's football scoring last season with 60 points. He kicked 39 extra points, five field goals and scored a touchdown.

Billy Cox of the Dodgers hit .363 for the Harrisburg club in 1941. It was the only time in his career he batted above .300.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

An extremely promising Escanaba High School grid candidate was sidelined by an injury in one of the first practice sessions last week. Dave Viau, sophomore fullback, suffered a broken collar bone in a workout Thursday. Coach Joe Milokna spoke highly of the big, fast youngster who was ticketed for a varsity berth.

Escanaba Merchants drew a tough one in the coming Upper Peninsula Class A softball tournament. They'll meet Iron River Felix's, Class A champs of the Iron Mountain district, Saturday night at 9:30. Pitching for Iron River will be Lynn Chadwick, the phenomenal speed-baller who has Iron County softball circles agog with his pitching feats. Our Iron Mountain informant says Chadwick is blazing fast, has a lot of "stuff" and does not use a windmill delivery.

The new Marinette High School grid coach, Marlon Batterman, called his candidates for the first practice gathering yesterday. Batterman succeeds Howie Steinhil at the helm of the Marines. Escanaba plays at Marinette on Oct. 17.

At Menominee, Coach Ken Radick is moaning about a sparse turnout of 54 football candidates. He says it's the smallest turnout in the last 10 years. We don't know how Radick counts, but he's not fooling us with that stuff. We remember too well the size of some of those underclassmen who were on the Maroon varsity last season.

The Iron County Steelers, only independent football team in the Upper Peninsula, will play an 11-game schedule this year, meeting teams from Detroit, Sheboygan, Merrill, Oshkosh and Manitowish. The team is coached this year by Bill Reitmeyer, former grid star at Wayne University.

Baseball Picnic Is Set Tuesday, Aug. 25

The annual picnic for Escanaba's youthful baseball players will be held Tuesday, Aug. 25, at Pioneer Trail Park.

Players from the Recreation League, the Little League, Little Bigger League and the Escanaba Cubs will attend. All players must turn in uniforms to their managers before the picnic, it was announced.

Hot dogs, pop and ice cream will be served at the picnic which starts at 11 a. m.

U.P. Girls Softball Tourney At Marquette

The Upper Peninsula girls softball championship tournament will be held at Marquette Aug. 28-30, with at least six teams expected to compete.

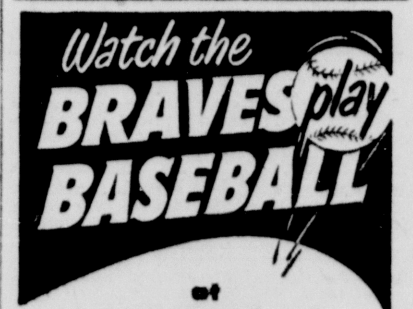

Entries must be mailed to Jim Tretheway, Marquette Mining Journal, by Aug. 24.

Defending state champion Marquette Plumberettes will compete again this year. Other teams are expected from Copper Country, Negaunee, Iron Mountain and Soo. Winner will compete in the state tournament to be held at Escanaba's Memorial Field over Labor Day weekend.

July was a hard month on veteran ball players. Hal Newhouse, Vern Stephens, Max Lanier and Barney McCosky were among those released this July.

The St. Louis Cardinals gave recent pay raises to Rip Repulski, Ray Jablonski, Harvey Haddix and Ferrell Anderson.

Enjoy major league baseball at Milwaukee County Stadium this week-end. Ride there relaxed in the comfort of a convenient North Western train.

Kuenn, Souchock Seek To Extend Hit Streaks

DETROIT (P)—Detroit rookie Harvey Kuenn and veteran Steve Souchock will be out to extend almost identical hitting sprees when the Tigers face Cleveland's Indians tonight.

Both have hit safely in the last 11 games and hope to make it 12 in a row off the offerings of Indian righthander Mike Garcia.

Aug. 6, when Bill Miller and Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees beat the Tigers, was the last day that either the young shortstop or the seasoned outfielder went hitless.

Since then, both Kuenn and Souchock have picked up 16 hits in 43 times at bat.

Souchock's batting average has improved far more during the hitting streak, because he has far less times at bat. Steve moved up from .286 to .307, tops for the Detroit club. Kuenn, who was an even .300 when he started his streak, now stands at .306.

Steve Gromek, the ex-Indian who set Cleveland down with four hits and won 4-2 July 2, the last time he faced his former teammates, was Manager Fred Hutchinson's choice for pitching duties. He will go after win No. 3 against six defeats. Garcia has a 14-6 record.

The Tigers, now six games behind sixth-place Philadelphia, will be aiming to pick up some ground during the short home stand.

Cleveland, far behind in the pennant chase but with eyes on the second-place spot occupied by Chicago, has equal hopes of gaining during the Detroit series.

Roberts Has Unusual Equipment But Uses It Better Than Most

(Editors Note—This is the second of a five-part series on Robin Roberts, who has won 20 or more games four straight years.)

By JOE REICHLER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What makes Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's four-time 20-game winner, so great?

Roberts' pitching equipment and delivery have been the topic of lively debates ever since he came to the Phillies in the summer of 1948. Opponents underrated him at first, now slugging like Stan Musial, Ted Kluszewski, Monte Irvin, Ralph Kiner, Hank Sauer and Jackie Robinson admit he is the greatest although they declare they have seen pitchers with greater speed, sharper curves and better stuff.

"You can't hit him when it counts," says Robinson. "There isn't a tougher competitor in the business."

"Motion Fools You"
"That easy motion fools you," says Irvin. "It's unbelievable how fast the ball comes at you from such a slow, deliberate motion." "Such coolness," says Musial. "I have never seen him get sore and slam a rosin bag into the ground." There is nothing extraordinary in Roberts' pitching form or repertoire to account for his success. He does his work with standard tools. He uses a change-up, curve and fast ball, all of which he throws with a smooth but unspectacular three-quarter motion. He "levels off" his hips by taking a long stride and then follows through with his shoulders and back.

Not The Fastest
Roberts' fast ball is alive but not as blazing as that of his teammate Curt Simmons. Other pitchers have better curve balls and he admits his changeup could stand improvement. Yet he wins and wins. Why?

Some rival managers and players attribute his soaring victory record to his competitive fire, his willingness to work, his poise, his gameness. Roberts is a winner for all these reasons but his greatest assets are uncanny control, stamina and ability to get the maximum use of each of his pitches.

If he can continue at his present pace, Roberts will go down in history as one of the most durable pitchers of all time. Last year he pitched 330 innings, the most in the league since Burleigh Grimes pitched 331 in 1928. With the current season two thirds gone, Roberts has worked 265 innings and has an outside chance of reaching the 400 inning mark.

Four Over 400
Only four pitchers in modern times have pitched 400 innings or more in a single season. Ed Walsh, the record holder, hurled 464 in 1908 and 419 in 1907 for the Chicago White Sox. Iron Man Joe McGinnity pitched 434 innings for the Giants in 1903, including three doubleheaders, and 408 in 1904.

Jack Chesbro reached 445 for the New York Highlanders in 1904 and Vic Wallis hit 402 for the Boston Braves in 1902.

All those endurance figures were set more than 40 years ago, long before the advent of the lively ball. In one respect, Roberts' endurance record is the most amazing of them all.

Such great pitchers as Lefty Grove, Carl Hubbell, Chief Bender, Dizzy Dean, Ted Lyons and Charlie Ruffing never hurled as many as 330 innings in a single season. Roberts has reached that figure in two of his first five seasons.

4,000 Attend VFW Festival

An estimated 4,000 persons attended the third annual VFW Water Festival at Indian Lake Sunday, an attendance slightly under last year, it was reported yesterday by Everett N. Anderson, general chairman. Perfect weather prevailed throughout the afternoon and evening.

Highlighting the program, considered by many the best since the festival was inaugurated in 1951, were the crowning of Miss Shirley McNamara as festival queen by U. S. Senator Charles E. Potter and afternoon and evening performances by the Tommy Bartlett Florida Water Ski and Jumping Boat Thrill Show.

Shallow water hampered the Bartlett show but the large crowd loved the performance of the water ski and jumping boat stars as they rode choppy Indian Lake. Especially exciting were the ski and boat jumps over a ramp placed in the lake, events that were performed at heights from one to two feet more than normal because of the shallowness of the lake.

Winners in the various contests were announced yesterday by Anderson as follows:

Local motor boat races: Class A, Ted Hentschel, first, and Walter Duquette, second; Class B, Larry Boyd, first, Ray Knauf, second, and Paul Duroy, Gladstone, third. In a second run of the class B event later in the afternoon, Larry Boyd again took first, George Bouschor, second, and Ray Knauf, third.

Charming Child Contest: Mary Jo, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don DeSautel, and Robert Tuffnell, 22 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Tuffnell. Judges were Mrs. Frances McCloskey, Flint; Miss Ruth Nelson, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Henry Olson, Escanaba.

Model Sail Boat Contest: Construction, Jack Nigh, first; William Malloch, second, and Jim Belleville, third; seaworthiness, Douglas Norton, first; James Malloch, second, and John Herlik, third. Contest judges were E. R. Monroe, Mayme Bashore and Joseph Vassau.

Pierce, Spahn Lead Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy (The Kid) Pierce, who has emerged as a top-flight American League pitcher this year, and Warren Spahn, one of the National's best since 1947, lead their respective circuits in earned run averages today.

Pierce, slender Chicago White Sox southpaw, has given up only 49 earned runs in 201 innings for a 2.19 mark. He has hurled three straight shutouts in his most recent starts and hasn't been scored on in 34 2-3 innings. Billy has won 16 games, his major league high, and lost 7.

Spahn, a 20-game winner in four of his seven big league campaigns has permitted 45 earned runs in 183 frames for a 2.21 average. The 32-year-old Milwaukee lefthander has a 16-5 record this year.

Virgil Trucks, another White Sox pitching ace, is runner-up to Pierce in the American League with a 2.54 ERA. He has 15 victories and 6 setbacks.

Robin Roberts, the major leagues' only 20 game winner, is second in the National with a 2.55 earned run average.

Veeck Says He'll Move Browns To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Veeck has promised Los Angeles County and city officials that if they can purchase the local baseball park the American League will permit him to bring the St. Louis Browns major league franchise here next year, the Times said today.

The park is owned by P. K. Wrigley, who holds the franchises both for the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League and the Chicago Cubs of the National League.

Paul Zimmerman, sports editor of the Times, said Veeck made his proposition to authorities here during a visit several weeks ago.

Tried To Move

Last spring Veeck made an unsuccessful attempt to move the Browns to Baltimore when other American League owners turned down his bid. Later the National League approved transfer of the Boston Braves franchise to Milwaukee.

Zimmerman said that if some civic authority purchases Wrigley Field, present home of the Angels here, it would be enlarged at an early date. Present capacity is 20,000, with assessed valuation more than $300,000.

NCAA Slaps Notre Dame With Probation

By TOM BRANAGAN
CHICAGO (AP)—With the name of mighty Notre Dame added to its disciplinary list, the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. turned to other investigations today.

A spokesman said five more schools are involved in charges of violating the NCAA's athletic code but that investigations are incomplete. The schools were not named.

Notre Dame — along with Michigan State and Arizona State — was reprimanded by the NCAA's 17-man council, a policy-making group, at the close of its meeting Monday.

Charleston Gets Win In Association Race

(By The Associated Press)

Other teams were not scheduled.

North American Ring Crown Is Won By Los Angeles Boy

The Times said: Veeck returned to Los Angeles Monday for further discussions of the matter. He could not be reached for comment.

Wrigley Out Of Town

In Chicago, Jimmy Gallagher, Business manager of the Cubs, confirmed receipt of a letter from a Los Angeles Civic representative inquiring whether the field could be purchased in order to make Veeck's proposition workable.

Gallagher said he didn't know what Wrigley's reply would be. The owner was reported out of town. Should Wrigley agree to sell, he apparently would have two alternatives: 1. Sell the park and transfer the Angel franchise elsewhere.

2. Demand that the buyer purchase both the park and the local franchise rights.

North American Ring Crown Is Won By Los Angeles Boy

BROOKLYN (AP)—Billy Peacock, a 21-year-old lad from Los Angeles, with only 18 pro fights under his belt, today was thinking in terms of the world's bantamweight crown after winning the North American championship from Henry (Pappy) Gault of Spartanburg, S.C.

First on Peacock's future calendar, however, is a return bout with Gault, whom he defeated Monday night on a 12-round split decision at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

The National Boxing Assn. set up the North American championship to stimulate interest in the division, once one of the busiest classes.

"I thought I won. Gault is a strong, experienced fellow," Peacock said.

Gault thought he had pulled the fight out of the fire with a late rally.

Peacock won the title with solid body punches, a style he learned by watching Gil Turner.

Peacock, a slim Negro, whipped into the lead with stiff rights to the body, then held off a closing spurt by Gault. This was the fifth time Pappy had defended his title.

Referee Petey Scalzo called it 7-4 for Peacock and Judge Art Aidala saw it 7-5 for Peacock. Judge Charley Shortell had Gault the winner, 6-5-1. The Associated Press scorecard favored Peacock 6-5-1.

Icebox Deaths May Be Murder

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — A deputy sheriff says a man recently twice threatened the lives of five children found dead in an old ice box.

Deputy Gladstone Williams said, "We plan to do a lot more checking on this point." He declined to identify the man.

Earlier Sunday the father, 34-year-old J. A. Hallman, told news men he was sure the children were "murdered" because there were too many "funny things" involved. His wife agreed.

Said Hallman: "I may die before I find out. But I'll never believe those kids crawled in there by themselves. I think they were murdered."

And his wife: "I think they were put in there."

Crittenden County Coroner T. H. McGough said the children were apparently playing in the box last Wednesday when the lid, which had been tilted back against the wall, flipped shut. Death was attributed to suffocation.

However, Hallman's oldest daughter, who arrived home with Mrs. Hallman, insisted an old plow point rested on the ice box lid.

"Yes, I saw it right on top of the ice box as we came up on the porch," said 11-year-old Mary Ellen.

"How did it get there?" asked Hallman.

Among widespread rumors of foul play: A neighbor woman was quoted as saying she heard screams coming from the Hallman house the day the children died.

Coronation Cake Slice Travels Far

APROMATTOX, Va. (AP) — It was quite an operation — getting this piece of cake to Mrs. John C. Moore. But eat it? Not on your life.

The 4 by 6 inch slice of fruit cake topped with lemon icing is something special. Here's how Mrs. Moore happened to get it:

She received the cake from Mrs. Annie Truman of Beckley, W. Va., whose daughter married Mrs. Moore's son. Mrs. Truman has a sister who lives in London and her son is a member of the guard at Buckingham Palace.

And the cake is a slice of the one baked especially for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Each guardsman was given a slice, and this particular guardsman's mother sent it to Mrs. Truman who sent it to Mrs. Moore.

Tuna Desert Canadian Waters

OTTAWA (AP) — The mystery of the missing tuna off Canada's west coast still has fisheries officials puzzled after three years. First there were plenty of tuna; then there were none.

In 1939, tuna of the albacore variety, a streamlined fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds, moved into British Columbia waters for the first time in history. There were not many at the start and the war curtailed commercial possibilities. However, from 1944 on the catch increased and during the 1948-1950 peak period, 6,500,000 pounds were landed with a value of $1,300,000.

Then the first began to vanish. The 1951 catch was a mere 190,000 pounds worth $33,000.

Japan's Smallfry Don't Need TV With Storyteller Of The Street

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Japan (NEA) — If Kukla, Fran and Ollie invade Japan, they will face stiff competition from the Kamishibai-man.

For 50 years, the Kamishibai-man — Storyteller-of-the-Street — has been a familiar and beloved figure on the streets of Tokyo. In this city alone, he has 1800 counterparts.

This eloquent Pied Piper illustrates exciting stories with colorful pictures painted on cardboard slides and shown in a portable shadow-box. For most of his rapt and eager audience, the Kamishibai is the only entertainment they can afford.

The storyteller's commercial pitch consists of small pieces of candy which he sells to the children for five yen (about a penny). But even if the children do not have five yen, they are allowed to watch the half-hour show.

A Japanese youngster, however, feels that he loses face if he cannot suck on a sticky sweet during the show, so he brings the money if he possibly can. The ones who buy candy also get choice standing room closer to the stage and their idol.

Each type of Japanese street peddler announces his arrival with a different sound, such as the "noodle soup man," with a reed flute, the candy man with a ten horn. Any child quickly distinguishes the familiar clacking of wooden sticks that means the Kamishibai is in his neighborhood.

Kamishibai-san usually starts his rounds about 3 p. m., riding a bicycle with the box-like miniature stage and sets of pictures perched on the back seat.

When the crowd has gathered, Kamishibai-no-ojisan (ojisan literally means uncle, but it is used as an affectionate term for elders) begins the first of four stories, each illustrated with 10 pictures shown one by one as the story progresses.

First is a story for the little boys. They prefer detective stories, thrillers or westerns. Then comes one for the girls, who like tragic tales the best. Next is a comic story and last is the biography of a famous man.

All stories are serials, so the children will come back the next day. The show lasts 30 to 40 minutes.

Then kamishibai-san is off on his bicycle to collect another crowd in another alleyway.

The history of kamishibai began in 1904, according to a veteran storyteller who also has two sons and a daughter in the business now. It became immensely popular after the Russo-Japanese war, but in the 1930s, police condemned it as a traffic hindrance and school authorities as a bad influence on children. Then, during the war, it flourished as a means of martial education. Now, military stories are out.

About 30 women in Tokyo have become street storytellers in recent years and the children love them. They make more yen than their male competitors.

Television made its Japanese debut only a few months ago. But TV, as well as movies, is too costly for most Japanese children. So the kamishibai-man needn't worry about his scant livelihood for a while yet—and the children without yen can always sneak in at the back.

Empty Apartments In Rio de Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The new American embassy office building in Rio de Janeiro has eight lovely apartments which apparently aren't going to see much use—thanks to red tape. The eight apartments occupy two upper floors of the 12-story, $2,800,000 building, which was opened for use in April. They were intended to be used by newcomers who were looking for apartments of their own, or by touring guests or diplomats.

But soon after the opening, a ruling came down from somewhere about the use of the apartments. For "security" reasons, couples with children would not be allowed to use them—only single persons or childless couples.

So about the only occupants for the apartments, aside from an occasional visitor, have been a few newly-arrived secretaries. The story goes that they would prefer a hotel near one of Rio's famous beaches.

Flier Gets Life In Korea Killing

TAEGU, Korea (AP) — Air Force 2nd Lt. George Schreiber, Hollywood, Ill., was convicted by a court martial of premeditated murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the death last September of a Korean national.

Schreiber was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Both the conviction and sentence are subject to review.

Two other Americans were involved in the case. Airman 1 C. Thomas L. Kinder of Cleveland, Tenn., was convicted last month of slaying the Korean. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Robert W. Toth, a former serviceman, was arrested at Pittsburgh last May and flown to Korea to stand trial in connection with the slaying.

His trial has been delayed pending court action to determine whether the military has the right to force him to return to Korea. Toth is held in Korea.

A 5th Air Force spokesman said orders are now being awaited to send Toth back to the U. S. He was expected to leave within a day or two.

Immigrant Who Made Millions In Movies Dies In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michael Gore, 77, a Russian immigrant who rose from virtual poverty to become one of the nation's wealthy theater magnates, died Sunday, just four months after the death of his wife Celia.

Gore came to the United States 67 years ago and in his youth was in the cigar business in Chicago. When movies were in their infancy he came to Los Angeles and in 1906 established this city's second movie theater.

He founded a chain of theaters which later became known as the Fox West Coast Theaters when he sold them in the 1930s.
